DROUGHT AND HEAT TAKE HEAVY DEATH TOLL

Primary Elections in Four States of Deep Concern

IN KANSAS ALLEN AND REED SEEK REELECTION

VOTE OF 250,000, AN OFF-YEAR RECORD, APPEARS VERY PROBABLE

WEST VIRGINIA CLOSES A COLORFUL AND BITTER CAMPAIGN

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—The political fortunes of Senator Henry J. Allen and Governor Clyde M. Reed, seeking the republican nomination for their respective offices, were at stake today in the Kansas primary election.

A vote of 250,000—an off-year record, appeared probable.

The principal primary issue was the allied effort of Reed and Allen to maintain their state republican organization intact against the attacks of younger opponents.

Allen, 81, former Wichita publisher and junior senator by appointment, succeeding Vice-President Charles Curtis, was opposed by Ralph Snyder, Kansas farm bureau head; James F. Getty, attorney of Kansas City, Kas., and W. H. Sproul, former congressman.

Reed, 59, former newspaper publisher of Parsons, Kas., seeking his second term as governor, was opposed by Frank Hauke, 35, former world war sergeant, Kansas State Agricultural School football player, farmer and legislator. Hauke was one of the anti-Reed leaders in the legislature.

Related attempts were made to make farm relief an issue when Reed attacked the federal farm board policies, but his charges went practically unanswered and the issue was further dimmed when Senator Allen took a conciliatory attitude toward government farm efforts in Washington.

Charlestown, W. Va., Aug. 5.—A primary campaign as colorful as it has been bitter came to an end today as West Virginia voters cast their ballots for senatorial and congressional candidates. The intense heat was expected to make the vote a light one.

Major interest centered in the republican senatorial race in which five candidates, all of them aggressive and bearing the scars of previous political encounters, sought the nomination.

On the democratic side Matthew M. Neely, Fairmont, unsuccessful democrat nominee in 1928, was unopposed and was automatically nominated.

The republican candidates were Jas. Elwood Jones, Switchback coal magnate; Albert B. White, Parkersburg, former governor; Judge Harry Shaw, Fairmont; Benjamin L. Rosenbloom, an avowed wet, and C. Louis Wilson, Parkersburg, who has not waged any campaign.

In the six congressional districts, all the incumbents were seeking renomination. All except Representative Joe L. Smith, Beckley, are republicans. Of the senatorial candidates, White, Jones and Judge Shaw have received the endorsement of the Anti-Saloon League.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 5.—Pre-primary predictions that incumbents would win were borne out today as inspectors completed tallying votes cast in Kentucky's congressional primary on Saturday.

The Blue Grass state's only woman representative in congress, Mrs. Katherine Langley, wife of former Congressman John W. Langley, won the republican nomination in the tenth district while two other republican women candidates lost. These were Mrs. Minerva Allen, 47, seventh district, and Mrs. Marie Haller, an avowed wet, in the sixth district.

The senatorial slate for both parties in the general election in November will be, short and long term, U. S. Senator John M. Robison, republican, incumbent; short term, Ben Williamson, Ashland, democrat; long term, Judge Mills M. Logan, democrat.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 5.—The Missouri electorate viewed its state primary election apathetically today, and a comparatively few voters were expected at the polls.

Only one state office, superintendent of schools, was to be filled and the election was without important state issues. Only in a few of the congressional districts were close races predicted.

Thirty-four party candidates for the state senate and 150 for the house of representatives will be chosen in the 17 districts of the state.

MRS. STEPHEN BIRCH DIES IN MILL CITY

Minneapolis, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Stephen Birch, member of one of the oldest families in the city and wife of Stephen Birch, distinguished New York engineer, died last night while visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Rufus R. Rand. Funeral services will be held late today.

SAVE SMALL TOWN; USE ENGINE, TENDER TO FIGHT FIRE

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—The little town of Cape Meade Junction, Md., was saved from destruction by fire when a locomotive pulling a tender with 12,000 gallons of water raced the 18 miles from here in 20 minutes. Volunteer firemen, handicapped by lack of water because of the drought, called Baltimore for help; a hose was placed in the tender and water pumped on to the blaze, which started in a two-story frame house.

HELD AS SUSPECT IN MURDER OF DOROTHY AUNE

WALTER HOLLOWAY, ALIAS GRIFFIN, IS ARRESTED AT COUNCIL BLUFFS, IA.

POLICE UNREMITTING TO FIND CLUES TO CRIME COMMITTED IN MINNEAPOLIS

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 5.—Walter Holloway, alias Griffin, held in connection with the murder of Dorothy Aune, 12, Minneapolis, last August was released today when police became convinced that he was not the man they are seeking.

Chief of Detectives Arnold said that he had received advices from Minneapolis today indicating that Holloway had no part in the crime.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Walter Holloway, alias Griffin, was held today for Minneapolis police as a suspect in the murder of Dorothy Aune, 12, in Minneapolis last August.

Holloway was arrested Saturday and questioned by Chief of Detectives Arnold concerning his whereabouts at the time of the Aune girl's death last year.

It was believed at first that Holloway would be released when Minneapolis police said they thought he had no connection with the crime. Later, Arnold determined to hold him for questioning by Minneapolis authorities.

Police records showed that Holloway served time in the Stillwater penitentiary in 1921 and that he also had been in the Nebraska state prison.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 5.—The murder of Dorothy Aune last year instituted one of the most extensive criminal investigations the city had ever known.

Scores of suspects were arrested as police sought to track down the slayer of the 12-year-old girl. After three weeks of frenzied activity, police dropped their intensive search, but more than a dozen suspects have been arrested in connection with the murder since that time.

Two "confessions" to the murder have been obtained but both were discredited generally after more complete investigation.

All leads to the solution of the crime have proven false, thus far.

COAST GUARDSMAN IS DEAD; BELIEVED RUM RUNNER VICTIM

Ipswich, Mass., Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Louis A. Pratt, 35, a coast guardsman, died at Cable hospital today, supposedly the victim of rum runners.

He had been mortally wounded last night by bullets fired from an unidentified craft while on an errand of mercy off the northern Massachusetts coast.

With Pratt's death a widespread search was made for the supposed rum craft from which the shots were fired.

At the time of the shooting, Pratt, accompanied by Coast Guardsman Cleo Faulkingham of the Plum Island base, was searching the darkened waters for two Winthrop men who had been reported helplessly adrift in a frail boat.

The two coast guards had conducted their hunt for some time in vain when they came upon an unidentified and lightless craft. As the two boats drew together, a series of shots, apparently from a machine gun, were fired from the suspected rum runner.

Pratt dropped to the bottom of his surf boat, shot through the stomach. The surf boat was riddled with bullets but Faulkingham escaped unscathed. He started immediately a four-mile race with death and finally reached Ipswich Bluffs, where he obtained aid and transferred the wounded guardsman to Cable hospital.

The Gloucester coast guard base and the Merrimack river and Salisbury Beach stations dispatched a fleet of fast boats to hunt for the craft from which the shots were fired. State and local police joined in the search.

Situation Along Yangtze River Valley in China Quiet, Reinforcements Arriving

FOUR JAPANESE DESTROYERS TO AID THEIR NATIONALS

U. S. HAS 3 GUNBOATS, LUZON, GUAM, PALOS, KEEPING WATCHFUL EYE

CONCEALED BATTERY ALONG CHANGSHA SHORE FIRES ON THE PALOS

Hankow, China, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—The situation along the Yangtze river valley, disturbed for days by the steady approach of Chinese communists from the south, was believed quieting today with the arrival here of numerous military and naval reinforcements.

A number of Chinese nationalist government troops have been sent here, as well as Chinese and foreign gunboats, the latter now numbering 15, including two British and two American.

Three Britons were wounded at Changsha when the British gunboat Teal went into action there, it was learned.

London, Aug. 5.—The British legation at Peiping has received a report from Hankow that 20,000 Chinese bandits have reached a position within 12 miles of Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province, the London Daily Express said today.

Nanchang was hastily entrenching itself to resist the expected attack of the outlaws, who were marching there after seizing, looting and burning Changsha, about 180 miles to the west.

About 4,000 Changsha refugees have arrived at Hankow to date, the Daily Express dispatch said. It also reported that an organization known as the "Black Murderers," and commanded by a girl, had killed hundreds of Chinese at Changsha, including high officials.

Tokio, Aug. 5.—Four Japanese destroyers steamed from the Sasebo naval station for Shanghai today to aid in protecting nationals along the Yangtze river valley.

The warcraft were ordered to proceed to Hankow, well up the Yangtze, owing to the serious situation which has developed along the valley since the outbreak of communistic disorders in Hunan and Kiangsi provinces.

Shanghai, Aug. 5.—The United States gunboat Palos reconnoitered along the Changsha region yesterday and today and was fired on by a concealed battery on the shore, where Chinese communist forces were still in control.

One American sailor was wounded in the chest by shrapnel.

The Palos was reported to have returned the fire.

Although Changsha has been evacuated by most of the communist forces, a few machine guns and small field guns were still in action there under direction of the raiding forces.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The navy department announced today that the United States gunboat Luzon, flagship of the Yangtze patrol, has moved up the Yangtze river from Shanghai to Hankow to reinforce the two gunboats there, the Guam and Palos, against the attack of raiding bandits.

The Luzon was due at its new station today, the department said. Another gunboat, the Panay, has been stationed at Chingling.

The department said the name of the sailor aboard the Palos wounded during an engagement at Changsha yesterday was not available. The wound was believed not serious.

MESSAGE ABOUT MOTOR QUITTING WAS A HOAX

St. Louis, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—The endurance monoplane, "Greater St. Louis," soared high today after its pilots threw the ground crew a scare by announcing over their radio transmitter that "It's all over, the motor has quit."

While Forest O'Brine and Dale Jackson piloted the plane over Lambert municipal flying field yesterday receiving sets on the ground picked up the following message:

"Well, folks, I guess it's all over with us. The motor has quit. I guess it's all over now."

The message turned out to be a hoax—O'Brine had cut off the motor switch while Jackson was at the controls. At 7:11 a. m. CST the "Greater St. Louis" had been aloft 390 hours.

NO DEFINITE VACATION PLANS FOR PRES. HOOVER

Washington, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Although President Hoover hopes to go to Glacier National park for a two-weeks vacation the latter part of this month, he has been unable yet to make any definite plans for the trip, it was learned today.

The tentative dates under consideration are understood to be from Aug. 15 to Aug. 28, but no definite decision has been reached. Some friends of the executive believe he may find the pressure of business here too strong to leave. Autumn comes early in the northern Rockies and unless he is able to start soon, the trip may be deferred.

There have been intimations the president may seek a fishing place on Long Island or on the north shore near Boston, as a substitute for the already curtailed plan of visiting the national parks.

A definite decision is expected to be made by Mr. Hoover late this week or early next week.

NO DECISION ON NEW DIRIGIBLE

NOTHING DEFINITE ON CONSTRUCTION OF ZRS-6 UNTIL NEXT APRIL

Washington, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Secretary of the Navy Adams said today the navy department will make no decision as to construction of the dirigible ZRS-6 until next April, when asked today about reports that the navy was planning to cancel the contract for the second of the large dirigibles authorized by congress.

Under the authorization, the navy can cancel the contract for this dirigible any time prior to completion next May of the first dirigible, now being built by the Goodyear Company of Akron, O. Adams said the navy would wait to investigate the first dirigible before deciding what would be done about the second one.

Reports were the contract would be cancelled as an economy measure.

MAJ. KINGSFORD-SMITH TO TAKE LONG REST

Amsterdam, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Major Charles E. Kingsford-Smith, British trans-oceanic aviator, began a long period of rest today after an operation for appendicitis.

Major Kingsford-Smith was operated on in the town of Middleburg last night, and was ordered to take a vacation from his aviation activities.

HALF BILLION BUSHELS CORN CROP LOSSES

PREDICTED TODAY BY ARTHUR M. HYDE, SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE

WILL ADDRESS MIDWEST RETAIL MERCHANTS COUNCIL AT KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—A corn crop loss of possibly 500,000,000 bushels was predicted today by Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, who will address the Midwest Retail Merchants' Council tonight.

Hyde said the department of agriculture had expected a 200,000,000 bushel corn loss, but that the intense heat of the past week had caused the estimate to be raised.

The secretary indicated the loss in corn might have the effect of causing a drought balance with the heavy carryover in wheat. He said the department was now stressing to farmers the desirability of using wheat as feed for livestock.

H. L. MENCKEN TO MARRY MISS HAARDT, ALSO AN AUTHOR

New York, Aug. 5.—(U. P.)—H. L. Mencken, famed almost as much for his bachelorhood as for his iconoclastic writings, will marry Miss Sara Haardt, also an author, next month.

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Haardt to the noted critic and editor of the American Mercury was made by Mrs. John Anton Haardt of Montgomery, Ala., mother of the bride-to-be. It caused surprise among Mencken's friends here, who recalled his previous comments on the subject of matrimony.

"Bachelors are the luckiest men in the world, if not the happiest," Mencken once said to Mrs. Walter Ferguson, who inferred they spent most of their time "annoying married ladies."

"I wouldn't trade my bachelorhood for anything. It's just like sitting in an easy chair and watching two clowns antic on the stage."

The announcement did not reveal whether the wedding, which is set for Sept. 3, would be a church ceremony. On this point, however, Mencken once expressed himself:

"Church weddings are primitive orgies in the worst of taste. Being married with all your friends about you is about as private and discriminating as eating in the window of a restaurant."

One Fair Flyer to Another

Amelia Earhart, only woman to fly the Atlantic, says good luck to Mrs. Martie Bowman (seated in plane), of Hempstead, L. I., before leaving for New York. Miss Earhart is to compete in the Woman's Air Derby on the West Coast while Mrs. Bowman is scheduled to participate in the Washington to Chicago Air Derby starting August 22. 6 HOBOES KILLED APPARENTLY BY WOOD ALCOHOL

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Six hoboies were killed, apparently from the effects of wood alcohol they drank on a "jungle" party here.

GANG LEADER TO BE BURIED IN $40 CASKET

JACK ZUTA NOT TO HAVE BENEFIT OF POLITICAL OR OFFICIAL ATTENDANCE

FUNERAL RITES IN A KENTUCKY VILLAGE CEMETERY, NO FLOWERS, NO CROWDS

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Underworld associates of Jack Zuta, north side gang leader, were non-plussed today to learn that he will be buried in a $40 casket, without benefit of political or official attendance, in a Kentucky village cemetery.

Zuta, believed by officials to have been the "master mind" in the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, met his death Friday night before a crackle of machine gun fire in a dance hall near Delafield, Wis.

From his career as a leader of the "Bugs" Moran-Allelo-Zuta gang, Zuta had reaped a fortune of $500,000 at the time of his death, it was said. But none of the money will be used for a pretentious funeral such as other leaders of Chicago's gangdom have received.

"I'm his cousin and sole heir," "Old Ike" Ginsborg, of Middleboro, Ky., told authorities and gangster friends of Zuta in Waukegan, Wis., where the body was taken. The officials told him he could take charge of the body.

"Just a quiet funeral," Ginsborg said after buying the $40 casket. "No flowers or crowds. An orthodox service and burial in my private lot in Middleboro."

"You can tell those Chicago hoodlums, and the politicians and city officials, too, that they won't be wanted." The theory of Zuta's connection with the Lingle murder has been strengthened by the discovery of a left hand glove in a cottage near Delafield, which was said to have been occupied by his slayers. A similar glove, apparently worn to avoid finger prints on the gun used, was found near the body of Lingle in a Michigan Avenue subway station two months ago.

Investigators believed Zuta was slain by members of his own gang because he "talked too much" about the Lingle slaying. He had a reputation for "talking."

LINDBERGHS ORDER SMALL BIPLANE TO SEAT THREE PEOPLE

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(U. P.)—Although the youngest member of the Lindbergh family is not believed ready to occupy a seat by himself, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has placed an order for a small biplane with a seating capacity of three, it was learned today.

The plane, now being completed at its factory, has a top speed of about 110 miles an hour and is noted for its ability to land and take off in a small space. It is believed that the colonel may use the plane to fly with his family to Maine, where there is hardly room on the estate of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow for Lindbergh's large Lockheed monoplane to land.

MAY FINISH REPAIRS ON THE R-100'S FIN TOMORROW EVENING

Montreal, Canada, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Repairs on the R-100's damaged fin may be completed by tomorrow evening, allowing the dirigible to make a flight over Canadian territory, it was said today.

The repairs have been delayed by unfavorable weather, but a statement from the Canadian department of national defense said they could be finished by Wednesday evening if the weather continued to improve.

The statement also said it was hoped to send the dirigible on at least one flight before it returns to England. If only one is made, it will be in combined visit to Toronto and Ottawa, but the date would depend on weather reports.

St. Cloud Superintendent of Schools Resigns Post

St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Robert H. Brown, superintendent of city schools since 1923, resigned today to accept a similar position at Virginia, Minn. No successor has yet been chosen. Brown came to St. Cloud from Glendive, Mont.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS FARM CROPS ARE LOST

ONLY THE SLIGHTEST HOPE OF EARLY RELIEF IN HEAT ANTICIPATED

PUZZLED WEATHER BUREAU IS STUDYING THE LAW OF AVERAGES

Washington, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Only the slightest hope of early relief for heat and drought sufferers throughout the country was held out today by the puzzled federal weather bureau, and that hope was based partially, it was admitted, on the law of averages.

With the drought and searing heat taking a heavy death toll and destroying millions of dollars in farm crops, President Hoover and government agencies view the unfavorable weather as a national catastrophe. Weather forecasters believe it will become doubly serious if rain is not forthcoming soon.

Weather bureau officials said today nothing in the way of a real break in the hot, dry spell is in sight, although local showers were forecast for the next 24 hours. They are nearly as much at a loss to explain the causes of the hot spell as they are in predicting its possible termination.

In a year abounding with endurance records of every kind, the present heat wave has overshadowed them all. The national capital set another mark yesterday when the high temperature was 102. It was the ninth time the 100-degree mark was passed here this year. The previous record for century temperatures in Washington was four in one summer—nearly 50 years ago.

Temperatures six to eight degrees above normal were reported for the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. The middle Atlantic states were as much as nine degrees above the usual mark.

New England, the Carolinas and New York have not been so badly hit by the drought as other states, crop experts of the department said. The crop damage has been most severe for corn, cotton, oats, hay and tobacco. Winter wheat was harvested mostly before the drought became severe, but spring wheat is believed to have suffered heavily.

The seriousness of the drought situation was stressed before President Hoover yesterday by Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange. Taber warned the drought may result in a "major catastrophe" unless rain appears soon. In a 10-day trip through the dry region, he said he saw pastures completely parched, forests browned by the sun's hot rays, lakes drying up and general water shortage.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The weather bureau held out no hope for rains in the east in the next two days to relieve the drought as President Hoover and his cabinet went into sessions today, with expectations they would consider possible measures to relieve agricultural distress.

Slightly cooler weather tonight and tomorrow was predicted for most of the east in the weather bureau forecast. Possible showers tomorrow were predicted for western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky and Florida, but fair weather was in prospect elsewhere.

The president was expected to canvass the drought situation today with his cabinet officers at their regular meeting for the possibility of some remedial measures. Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, suggested a reduction of rates on livestock out of the stricken area and on feed for animals when he called upon President Hoover today.

While it was pointed out at the interstate commerce commission that rates could be reduced only by application of the railroads themselves, it was recalled that President Hoover called a conference of railroad officials here several months ago and they took action to move surplus wheat that was piling up in warehouses. Similar co-operative measures might be taken to relieve the present situation if it appeared they would help.

This president saw effects of the drought personally on his trip to his Virginia camp over the week-end, passing parched fields where corn was wilting on the stalk. This personal view of conditions that are duplicated throughout the country impressed him very forcibly.

HEAT FROM ROCKIES TO THE ALLEGHENIES

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Sizzling heat from the Rocky Mountains to the eastern slopes of the Alleghenies held on with tenacity in two-thirds of the United States today.

Local thunderstorms which brought temporary relief to some parts of the country were too late to prevent the economic disaster which the protracted drought has brought to the farmers with total losses estimated as high as half a billion dollars.

Chicago and vicinity was promised "comfortably cool" weather for today, but forecasters predicted the north-west wind which brought the temperature drop here would not extend far from the Great Lakes and for the re-

Washington, Aug. 5.—The navy department announced today that the United States gunboat Luzon, flagship of the Yangtze patrol, has moved up the Yangtze river from Shanghai to Hankow to reinforce the two gunboats there, the Guam and Palos, against the attack of raiding bandits.

The Luzon was due at its new station today, the department said. Another gunboat, the Panay, has been stationed at Chingling.

The department said the name of the sailor aboard the Palos wounded during an engagement at Changsha yesterday was not available. The wound was believed not serious.

MESSAGE ABOUT MOTOR QUITTING WAS A HOAX

St. Louis, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—The endurance monoplane, "Greater St. Louis," soared high today after its pilots threw the ground crew a scare by announcing over their radio transmitter that "It's all over, the motor has quit."

While Forest O'Brien and Dale Jackson piloted the plane over Lambert municipal flying field yesterday receiving sets on the ground picked up the following message:

"Well, folks, I guess it's all over with us. The motor has quit. I guess it's all over now."

The message turned out to be a hoax—O'Brien had cut off the motor switch while Jackson was at the controls. At 7:11 a. m. CST the "Greater St. Louis" had been aloft 360 hours.

NO DEFINITE VACATION PLANS FOR PRES. HOOVER

Washington, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Although President Hoover hopes to go to Glacier National park for a two-weeks vacation the latter part of this month, he has been unable yet to make any definite plans for the trip, it was learned today.

The tentative dates under consideration are understood to be from Aug. 15 to Aug. 28, but no definite decision has been reached.

Some friends of the executive believe he may find the pressure of business here too strong to leave. Autumn comes early in the northern Rockies and unless he is able to start soon, the trip may be deferred.

There have been intimations the president may seek a fishing place on Long Island or on the north shore near Boston, as a substitute for the already curtailed plan of visiting the national parks.

A definite decision is expected to be made by Mr. Hoover late this week or early next week.

NO DECISION ON NEW DIRIGIBLE

NOTHING DEFINITE ON CONSTRUCTION OF ZRS-6 UNTIL NEXT APRIL

Washington, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Secretary of the Navy Adams said today the navy department will make no decision as to construction of the dirigible ZRS-6 until next April, when asked today about reports that the navy was planning to cancel the contract for the second of the large dirigibles authorized by congress.

Under the authorization, the navy can cancel the contract for this dirigible any time prior to completion next May of the first dirigible, now being built by the Goodyear Company of Akron, O. Adams said the navy would wait to investigate the first dirigible before deciding what would be done about the second one.

Reports were the contract would be cancelled as an economy measure.

MAJ. KINGSFORD-SMITH TO TAKE LONG REST

Amsterdam, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Major Charles E. Kingsford-Smith, British trans-oceanic aviator, began a long period of rest today after an operation for appendicitis.

Major Kingsford-Smith was operated on in the town of Middleburg last night, and was ordered to take a vacation from his aviation activities.

HALF BILLION BUSHELS CORN CROP LOSSES

PREDICTED TODAY BY ARTHUR M. HYDE, SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE

WILL ADDRESS MIDWEST RETAIL MERCHANTS COUNCIL AT KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—A corn crop loss of possibly 500,000,000 bushels was predicted today by Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, who will address the Midwest Retail Merchants' Council tonight.

Hyde said the department of agriculture had expected a 200,000,000 bushel corn loss, but that the intense heat of the past week had caused the estimate to be raised.

The secretary indicated the loss in corn might have the effect of causing a drought balance with the heavy carryover in wheat. He said the department was now stressing to farmers the desirability of using wheat as feed for livestock.

H. L. MENCKEN TO MARRY MISS HAARDT, ALSO AN AUTHOR

New York, Aug. 5.—(U. P.)—H. L. Mencken, famed almost as much for his bachelorhood as for his iconoclastic writings, will marry Miss Sara Haardt, also an author, next month.

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Haardt to the noted critic and editor of the American Mercury was made by Mrs. John Anton Haardt of Montgomery, Ala., mother of the bride-to-be. It caused surprise among Mencken's friends here, who recalled his previous comments on the subject of matrimony.

"Bachelors are the luckiest men in the world, if not the happiest," Mencken once said to Mrs. Walter Ferguson, who inferred they spent most of their time "annoying married ladies."

"I wouldn't trade my bachelorhood for anything. It's just like sitting in an easy chair and watching two clowns antic on the stage."

The announcement did not reveal whether the wedding, which is set for Sept. 3, would be a church ceremony. On this point, however, Mencken once expressed himself:

"Church weddings are primitive orgies in the worst of taste. Being married with all your friends about you is about as private and discriminating as eating in the window of a restaurant."

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS FARM CROPS ARE LOST

ONLY THE SLIGHTEST HOPE OF
EARLY RELIEF IN HEAT
ANTICIPATED

PUZZLED WEATHER BUREAU IS STUDYING THE LAW OF AVERAGES

Washington, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Only the slightest hope of early relief for heat and drought sufferers throughout the country was held out today by the puzzled federal weather bureau, and that hope was based partially, it was admitted, on the law of averages.

With the drought and searing heat taking a heavy death toll and destroying millions of dollars in farm crops, President Hoover and government agencies view the unfavorable weather as a national catastrophe. Weather forecasters believe it will become doubly serious if rain is not forthcoming soon.

Weather bureau officials said today nothing in the way of a real break in the hot, dry spell is in sight, although local showers were forecast for the next 24 hours. They are nearly as much at a loss to explain the causes of the hot spell as they are in predicting its possible termination.

In a year abounding with endurance records of every kind, the present heat wave has overshadowed them all. The national capital set another mark yesterday when the high temperature was 102. It was the ninth time the 100-degree mark was passed here this year. The previous record for century temperatures in Washington was four in one summer—nearly 50 years ago.

Temperatures six to eight degrees above normal were reported for the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. The middle Atlantic states were as much as nine degrees above the usual mark.

New England, the Carolinas and New York have not been so badly hit by the drought as other states, crop experts of the department said. The crop damage has been most severe for corn, cotton, oats, hay and tobacco. Winter wheat was harvested mostly before the drought became severe, but spring wheat is believed to have suffered heavily.

The seriousness of the drought situation was stressed before President Hoover yesterday by Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange. Taber warned the drought may result in a "major catastrophe" unless rain appears soon. In a 10-day trip through the dry region, he said, he saw pastures completely parched, forests browned by the sun's hot rays, lakes drying up and general water shortage.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The weather bureau held out no hope for rain in the east in the next two days to relieve the drought as President Hoover and his cabinet went into sessions today, with expectations they would consider possible measures to relieve agricultural distress.

Slightly cooler weather tonight and tomorrow was predicted for most of the east in the weather bureau forecast. Possible showers tomorrow were predicted for western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky and Florida, but fair weather was in prospect elsewhere.

The president was expected to canvass the drought situation today with his cabinet officers at their regular meeting for the possibility of some remedial measures. Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, suggested a reduction of rates on livestock out of the stricken area and on feed for animals when he called upon President Hoover today.

While it was pointed out at the interstate commerce commission that rates could be reduced only by application of the railroads themselves, it was recalled that President Hoover called a conference of railroad officials here several months ago and they took action to move surplus wheat that was piling up in warehouses. Similar co-operative measures might be taken to relieve the present situation if it appeared they would help.

The president saw effects of the drought personally on his trip to his Virginia camp over the week-end, passing parched fields where corn was wilting on the stalk. This personal view of conditions that are duplicated throughout the country impressed him very forcibly.

HEAT FROM ROCKIES TO THE ALLEGHENIES

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Sizzling heat from the Rocky Mountains to the eastern slopes of the Alleghenies held on with tenacity in two-thirds of the United States today.

Local thunderstorms which brought temporary relief to some parts of the country were too late to prevent the economic disaster which the protracted drought has brought to the farmers with total losses estimated as high as half a billion dollars.

Chicago and vicinity was promised "comfortably cool" weather for today, but forecasters predicted the north-west wind which brought the temperature drop here would not extend far from the Great Lakes and for the re-

The following is taken from the McKay Lake items: The people around here were very much surprised last Tuesday by the sight of the flying machine called the automobile racing along the roads. All we need now is the electric cars.

Crops this year in Crow Wing county are in a most favorable condition and if good weather continues, there is little doubt but that it will be a banner year for all yield of farm produce. From conservative estimates it is found that the wheat crop is fully 15 per cent better than last year and the acreage has also increased quite materially. Oats and barley are also doing well, and the hay crop, although lighter than last year, is considered good. The corn crop is below the average, the weather being very unfavorable.

The Baptist Mission ladies aid will meet with Mrs. J. W. Miller, 824 12th avenue N. E. Wednesday afternoon. A good attendance is desired. Visitors are welcome.

Enjoy Picnic Supper

The Young Peoples Missionary circle of the Zion Evangelical church of Northeast Brainerd held a picnic supper last evening at the Wayt home on Rice Lake. About ten were present.

The time was spent socially around a camp fire.

IDEAL

The Lake Region Farmers Association held their picnic Sunday at the E. J. Houge farm on Bass and Kimball lakes with a large attendance. On account of the hot weather the young folks enjoyed swimming.

E. W. Johnson called at the home of his brother, L. O. Johnson Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Jay McDonald is being accompanied this week by Magerit Full from St. Cloud at her cottage on Bass Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brunes and daughters were Sunday callers at the J. P. Bakken home on Butternut Point.

Mrs. Winnie Goldsberry and children spent Saturday evening and Sunday with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Knutson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Aas and family and Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Aas of Pequot and Mrs. R. E. Houge and Alice and Chas.

Olson motored to Outing and Swatara, Minn., Sunday on a berry trip.

The Hans Hanson children of Pequot are visiting with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Johnson the past week.

Quite a few from this community attended the musical sketch at the M. W. A. hall Friday evening.

We were all interested to hear of Miss Arlene Hagberg being named "Miss Brainerd" and we all send her our congratulations as well as to those who took part in the campaign.

Miss Mavis Monson returned home Monday of last week after assisting her sister Mrs. Charles Brunes of Pequot.

Mrs. R. E. Houge entertained the Ideal ladies aid Wednesday with a large attendance.

Mrs. Ole Johnson called on Mrs. J. A. Danielson Monday afternoon.

We were all grieved to hear of the death of Mr. Barrett of Baxter township near Brainerd. Mr. Barrett is an uncle to Vernon Jackson and Mrs. John Knutson, Jr., of this community.

Funeral rites were held Monday. County Agent E. G. Roth and Mr. Cohen of Brainerd called at the E. J. Houge home one day last week.

Mrs. N. J. Knutson spent Saturday afternoon visiting with Mrs. Ole Johnson and Mrs. E. J. Houge.

Hans Hanson of Sunset Bay had the misfortune of running in the ditch about a quarter of a mile west of the Cora Wall farm. No damages were reported as yet.

Mrs. Orvil Aas spent Tuesday afternoon visiting her folks, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Houge.

Some of the country news items last week were similar to some museum manuscripts. But as it's a trifle cooler we hope they have won over the hot weather.

Miss Esther Johnson arrived Sunday night from Council Bluffs, Ia., to spend the summer with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Johnson. Miss Johnson reports it to be extremely hot in Iowa and found the Minnesota breeze to be more comforting.

Mr. Goodman of Rhodes, Ia., is spending his vacation with his son, Geo. Goodman of Birchdale Villas. Mrs. Goodman is also to arrive soon.

WABEDO

R. Felton and family spent Saturday evening at the Leslie Shepard home.

STATE COUNTS CARS ON ROADS THIS WEEK

Forty men Employed Taking Census on State Roads in the District

CLOSE SUNDAY AT MIDNIGHT

Figures to be used in Gauging Work on the Roads Next Year

A seven-day state road census got underway in the Brainerd district yesterday with 40 men employed counting cars passing points of travel.

The census figures will be used by the state highway department in reaching an estimate of the amount of expenditure to be placed on highways where most beneficial.

The count is being conducted under the supervision of the Brainerd office of the state department.

Two men are placed at each "stand," working in shifts. One starts counting at 6 A. M. and works to noon. The other "goes on" at noon and works through to 6 P. M. and both count until midnight. The census taking will stop at 12 o'clock midnight next Sunday.

The men are stationed at the following places: Highway No. 27, south of Brainerd; junction of Highways Nos. 18 and 2 at the four-mile corner east of Brainerd; junction of Highways Nos. 2 and 19, two miles west of Brainerd; junction of Highways Nos. 18 and 35 at Garrison; Highway No. 2, east of Crosby; Highway No. 2, east of Deerwood and near the Cuyuna Range golf course; two miles north of Pequot on Highway No. 19; Highway No. 37, near Little Falls; Highway No. 37, near Lincoln; Highway No. 2, one mile east of Wadena; Highway No. 4, one-half mile north of Wadena; Highway No. 34, east of Park Rapids; Highway No. 34, west of Walker; Highway No. 34, junction of Highways Nos. 19 and 34, east of Walker; detour of Highway No. 19, north of Longville; Highway No. 35, junction of Palisade road and Highway No. 35; state aid road No. 5 at Lincoln.

The Glamour of the Old

GILBERT K. CHESTERTON, in the course of his weekly attacks upon the foibles of the day, has been turning his attention to the familiar assertion that "in every age people have thought their own times prosaic and only the past poetical"—in other words, that, while the glamour of antiquity adds interest and prestige to the past, the present always seems dull and unromantic to its people, who take a morose pleasure in comparing it unfavorably with the "good old times," says the Christian Science Monitor.

Mr. Chesterton directs his attack from two angles. In the first place, he denies that people in past ages necessarily thought their own times dull and unromantic. And in the second, he denies that moderns who find their age devoid of romantic interest can assume that the missing romance will be obligingly supplied for them by the generations to come.

The point is not easy to settle, for the opinions of our predecessors are as various as those of our successors are uncertain. But there would seem to be some truth in the assumption that beauty or romance will not grow where it has not been planted. Elizabethans, who devised comely houses with gables in plaster and oak no more thought their buildings dull and ugly than King Solomon thought his magnificent temple tawdry and crude. And presumably the same argument would apply to poetry, painting, drama, dress or any other form of achievement.

Ruskin once wrote of the pursuit of art. "Be assured that if ever any other motive becomes a leading one in your mind, as the principal one for exertion, except your love of art, that moment it is all over with your art." Is it not fair to suppose, too, that the motive that presides over the work will govern the appreciation of it in time to come?

A contemporary school of fiction writers that sets before it an ideal of cold cynicism should not expect a future age to find in it much more than the coldness and cynicism originally put in; neither need the modern artist who believes that art is unrelated to beauty anticipate that admirers to come will discover a relationship that is not there.

The motive behind much of the achievement of the last 150 years has been primarily mechanical invention and bulk production, and any artistry that has been associated therewith is a secondary consideration. We hardly expect future generations to romanticize the steam shovel and concrete mixer and much of their handiwork. On the other hand, such elements of beauty and romance as many moderns are continually striving to infuse into the world about them may well furnish not only a present satisfaction but prospects of an added glamour of antiquity awaiting them by about 2500 A. D.

Keep to the Right, a Good Rule

NEWSPAPERS and traffic officers have issued repeated warnings against driving in the middle of a busy road, but many drivers continue this dangerous practice. The traffic law requires everyone to keep on the right half of the road except when passing other vehicles, or when the condition of the road makes driving on the right impractical.

The keep-to-the-right rule is especially important on pavements, says a Highway bulletin. The entire vehicle should be kept to the right of the center line. To drive with the left wheel on the center line, as many do, is taking serious risks.

If the left wheel is kept two feet to the right of the center line, there will still be two feet from the right wheel to the right edge of an 18 foot pavement, giving ample margin for safety. On the 20 foot pavements the margin is still larger.

There is less risk in going too far right than too far left. If the right wheel goes off the pavement, nothing will happen, unless it is a new pavement with soft shoulders or no shoulders. If the left wheel goes beyond the center line and meets another wheel doing the same thing, an ambulance and a wrecking car will be necessary to clear up the mess.

Telephone Facts

At the time of the last official telephone census we had 59 percent of the world's 32,712,284 instruments, says a review compiled by the Manufacturer and Industrial News Bureau.

We have 16.3 telephones for every 100 persons of our population. Canada, with 13.7 per hundred, is the only other country even approximating this record. Germany, second to the United States in total number, has but 4.6 instruments per hundred.

The 51 American cities with populations in excess of 200,000 have an average of 22.8 telephone per hundred, while only two foreign cities have an equally high average. New York City has nearly as many telephones as Great Britain. San Francisco leads the world in telephone density, with an instrument for every three persons.

In the space of a single lifetime the telephone has encircled the world, and bound cities, states, nations and continents together through the medium of the spoken word. No other industry has done more for world unity of thought.

Accidents are Lessened

EVER since the city council placed "stop" signs at designated corners where side streets cut into trunk routes, there has been a great lessening of traffic mishaps at such points. Chief of Police Thomas T. Templeton, who is well posted in traffic matters, says the reduction has been over 90 per cent.

Trunk travel is expedited, accidents are cut down, side street travel does not enter the heavily traveled highway until the driver brings his car to a stop and looks up and down the road. It is a simple matter of impressing people to exercise caution and the cost of the signs has been repaid hundreds of times by the lives saved, injuries and damages cut down or obviated entirely.

ELECTRIC light is such a common convenience that it is never valued properly until the service it cut or we are compelled to stay some place that has no electric light. The old kerosene lamps seem but a makeshift in comparison and some of the gasoline-fed lamps are very hot in operation and heat the room air.

TEMPERAMENT has a good deal to do with heat. If one frets and argues about the weather, you can increase your body heat 10 degrees.

EDITOR VAN RHEE WINS STATE FAIR PRIZE; CASEY SECOND; JOSLIN THIRD.

Editorial by Spring Valley Newspaperman is Choice of Noted Journalists.

GEORGE J. VAN RHEE

Congratulations to George J. Van Rhee of the Spring Valley Tribune.

His editorial entitled "The Minnesota State Fair" was awarded first prize in the editorial contest staged jointly by the State Fair publicity department and the Minnesota Editorial Association.

Mr. Van Rhee will receive a $50 cash prize and a desk ornament from the fair management.

Second prize, $30 and desk ornament, was won by John E. Casey of the Jordan Independent. Third prize, $20 and desk ornament, went to Verne E. Joslin of the Heron Lake News.

The Judges were: Roy J. Dunlap of the St. Paul Dispatch-Pioneer Press; Thomas Moodie, Minneapolis Tribune; Dow Congdon, Minneapolis Journal; and Frank Mayer, Minneapolis Star.

The Minnesota State Fair

One of the institutions in which residents of the state can well take pride is the Minnesota State Fair, showing each year the first week in September.

Naturally we are proud of the record that the Fair has achieved in the past seventy years, but always desirous to progress and extend its sphere of influence so that many more people will attend this year's big exposition and benefit from the many wonderful educational exhibits that have been arranged, the management is making special efforts to induce every man, woman and child in the Northwest to visit the seventy-first annual Fair and dairy exposition.

One of the means of securing increased attendance is lowering of the general admission price from seventy-five to fifty cents without curtailing its educational and entertainment program, in fact they are the most stupendous in the Fair's history.

A prize list of over $133,000 has been approved for educational exhibits. The finest displays of livestock, farm products, boys' and girls' club work, women's work, bee culture and machinery, to be assembled anywhere this year, will be open for the inspection of all visitors.

A visit to the livestock section will be equivalent to taking a short course, for there will be assembled 3,000 head of the finest cattle, horses, sheep and swine in the country.

The evening horse show will have an international flavor with horses and riders from many states and Canada participating.

The outdoor machinery show will be the largest staged this year. More than sixty acres of moving-type exhibits, featuring the newest models in farm, road building, barn and home equipment, will be displayed.

The auto show, the woman's building with its many fine displays of household arts, the Boys' and Girls' Club work demonstrated, the fine arts show with its famous paintings, the educational exhibits of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the work of the children in the school exhibits, are only a few of the thousand and one features.

An entertainment program that surpasses those of other days has been arranged. It will include horse racing, auto racing, aviation, feature bands, circus attractions, fireworks and the Whoopie Way with its two score rides and shows.

Harness and running horse enthusiasts will have their linings as twelve harness and nine running races have been scheduled; $15,000 in purses being offered by the Fair.

Dare-devils of the auto racing world will furnish the thrills or three days. More than a score of the leading speed kings will be seen in action.

The aircraft exposition will depict the history and development of aviation as well as show the various models of planes, gliders, motors and other equipment.

There are so many features to the program of the 1930 Fair, that it is impossible to enumerate them all here, but the above should suffice to interest all. However, much of the effort is lost unless each person attends this big event and sees it for himself.—Written by George J. Van Rhee.

BOY SCOUT INDIAN VILLAGE AT STATE FAIR

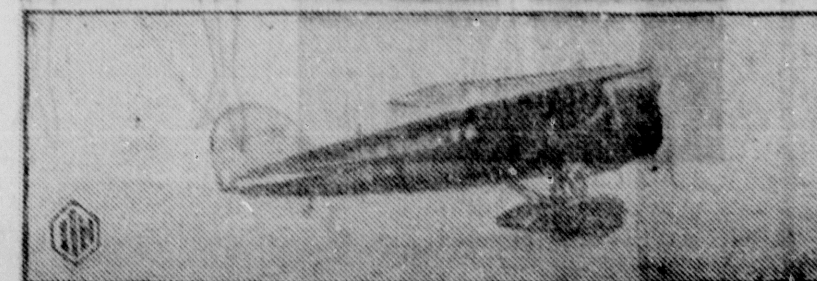

The Boy Scout Indian Village will be one of the outstanding features at the Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Livestock Show, August 30 to September 6.

Indians in native dress, living in tepees, cooking their food in the open, and participating in dances and ceremonies will be in camp.

Boy Scouts from several states will demonstrate: whistle drills, fire by friction, first aid, signalling and tower construction, rope making, baking bread on a stick and other scout tricks.

There'll be no admission charge to the Boy Scout Indian Village.

John Henry Mears (left), veteran world traveler, and his pilot, Henry Brown, with their mascot, a Sealyham terrier, pictured as they started on their round-the-world cruise from Roosevelt Field, L. I., in their plane, "The City of New York." The daring aviators hoped to circle the globe in fifteen days but crashed down on the start of their second leg. They are shown headed for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, on the first leg of their journey, and had planned to make their trans-oceanic hop of 2,100 miles from there to Dublin, Ireland.

Youth and Age

Youth is credulous in many matters, but upon one single issue youth stays as iron and granite; youth does not ever believe that life serves well enough just as it stands. To believe that such is just possibly the case remains the attested hall-mark of middle life. . . . Thereafter optimism develops insidiously and the most of us sink, cackling thinly, into amiable senescence.—From "The Way of Eben," by James Branch Cabell.

A tip . . . from Andrew Carnegie

Asked to explain his phenomenal success, Andrew Carnegie blandly attributed it to his ability to get men to work for him who knew more than he did.

And that's a formula for success. Nobody who is really successful does all the work himself. He employs other people's minds and efforts.

Do you do the same in the intricate business of running your home and taking care of your family? You can, quite easily.

You can employ specialists in diet; you can serve the master dishes of famous chefs; you can have the advice of style authorities in selecting your clothes, of whole electrical laboratories in buying household appliances, by reading the advertisements.

All the newest knowledge—knowledge millions of dollars and years of effort have won—is contained in the advertisements.

If you will use the advertisements in this newspaper as Andrew Carnegie used men who knew more than he did, every dollar you spend will be spent wisely, economically, and will return full measure of satisfaction. That's the way to be a success in the greatest business in the world—making a home.

It pays to read the advertisements

Youth and Age

Youth is credulous in many matters, but upon one single issue youth stays as iron and granite; youth does not ever believe that life serves well enough just as it stands. To believe that such is just possibly the case remains the attested half-mark of middle life. . . . Thereafter optimism develops insidiously and the most of us sink, cackling thinly, into amiable senescence.—From "The Way of Ecken," by James Branch Cabell.

A tip . . . from Andrew Carnegie

Asked to explain his phenomenal success, Andrew Carnegie blandly attributed it to his ability to get men to work for him who knew more than he did.

And that's a formula for success. Nobody who is really successful does all the work himself. He employs other people's minds and efforts.

Do you do the same in the intricate business of running your home and taking care of your family? You can, quite easily.

You can employ specialists in diet; you can serve the master dishes of famous chefs; you can have the advice of style authorities in selecting your clothes, of whole electrical laboratories in buying household appliances, by reading the advertisements.

All the newest knowledge—knowledge millions of dollars and years of effort have won—is contained in the advertisements.

If you will use the advertisements in this newspaper as Andrew Carnegie used men who knew more than he did, every dollar you spend will be spent wisely, economically, and will return full measure of satisfaction. That's the way to be a success in the greatest business in the world—making a home.

It pays to read the advertisements

MAKE PLANS FOR FIGHT ON QUESTION WITH THE MAJOR LEAGUES

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Aug. 5.—Representatives of baseball's three Class AA Leagues—the Pacific Coast, the International and the American Association—met here today to make plans for their fight with the major leagues on the question of the universal player draft.

The meeting is the first joint session of the three big "anti-draft" organizations since the major leagues issued their ultimatum that unless all minors submit to the draft, business relations between them would be severed on and after Dec. 1, 1930.

The International and Pacific Coast circuits already have voted to defy the draft and accept the challenge. The American Association is expected to follow suit and join the movement to carry on as a "triple entente" without affiliation with the majors.

Club owners in the three Class AA League long have opposed classification as "minor" leagues and the more radical members of the group are advocating a complete break with the American and National Leagues and the formation of a third major league.

It is generally believed that the two other non-selective leagues, the Three-Eye and Western, will be guided by the action of the Class AA Leagues, with a possibility of a complete realignment of organized baseball.

Acceptance of the major league draft demands would bring an end to the era of high prices paid by big league clubs for minor stars, while refusal will bring open warfare with the majors refusing to buy, sell or loan players to non-draft leagues.

The conference of the Class AA Leagues originally was called to consider renewal and revision of the minor league agreement, but that business has been subordinated by the draft problem.

The draft dispute is of long standing. Under the national agreement, made in 1920, minor league clubs were

CONVENTION AT CROOKSTON IS TAKING ACTION

THE RESOLUTION ADVOCATES 15-ROUND BOUTS IN ANY MINNESOTA CITY

TOWNS TO BE DESIGNATED BY THE BOXING COMMISSION OF STATE

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Approved by two committees, the resolution advocating 15-round bouts in any Minnesota city authorized by the boxing commission was scheduled for action by the annual convention of the Minnesota Department of the American Legion today.

The present law allows 10-round no-decision bouts in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth only.

The resolution advocating the changes in the present boxing laws was approved during the first day of the convention by the resolution and legislative committees. Now the proposal will be brought up on the convention floor for a vote by the delegates.

The proposal, which was drawn up by Dr. James J. Morrow, Austin, chairman of the Legion's state boxing committee, would allow boxing in any Minnesota city which the boxing commission recognized. Fifteen rounds would be the maximum instead of the present ten and two more members, including a secretary, would be added to the present state boxing commission of three members.

The secretary would be a full time worker on the commission with a salary of $4,000. Legionnaires propose to bring the bill before the 1931 state legislature and, if the vote today is overwhelming, expect that the legislature will act to modify the present law without much delay.

One additional proposal for changing the state's boxing code was that the exclusive franchises now operating in the Twin Cities be broken up by allowing one promoter for every 100,000 or fraction of the cities population. Considerable discussion and possibly defeat of this change was expected.

E. G. Hall, St. Paul, president of the Minnesota Federation of Labor, asked the delegates to employ ex-service men wherever possible.

A. E. Kapplin, Duluth, and Oscar Youngdahl, Minneapolis, were regarded as the two outstanding candidates for the post of state commander.

Col. Ralph Webb, mayor of Winnipeg, headed a Canadian delegation of world war veterans who visited the convention's opening yesterday. He invited the veterans to visit Canada after the convention is adjourned.

Committee appointments for the convention include:

Legislative committee—Harold Corona, Stillwater, and Mike Murray, St. Cloud.

Resolution committee—Lloyd Doulliner, Stillwater, Arthur Hagberg, Brainerd, and Otto Bystrom, Moorhead.

TOE NAILS TELL ALL ABOUT YOU

Detroit, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Your age, your disposition, your likes and dislikes, and your general state of health all are revealed by your toe nails, but most of the secrets are safe, for it takes a chiropodist to read the signs.

Speakers at the nineteenth annual convention of the National Association of Chiropodists explained their secrets.

Furrows on the nail indicate the years, just as rings in a tree show its age. A short stubby toe nail usually is possessed by a selfish, self-centered individual, while the long, narrow and lightly oval nail denotes a man or woman who is mentally alert, keen, refined and a generally nice person to be around.

SECOND PLACE CHICAGO CUBS BACK IN ACTION

FINAL GAME BROOKLYN-NEW YORK SERIES HAS ADDED IMPORTANCE

GIANTS ASSUMED LEAD IN CRUCIAL SERIES, WINNING YESTERDAY

(By United Press)

With the second-place Chicago Cubs swinging back into action today after an open date, the final game of the Brooklyn-New York series at Ebbets Field took on added importance in the National League pennant race.

The Giants assumed the lead in the crucial series, two games to one, by winning yesterday, 4-0, and reducing the Robins' lead over the Cubs to 2½ games. The third-place Giants are four games behind the Robins.

Today's game against the Giants will be the last home game for Brooklyn, barring a Sunday game with the Pirates on August 17, until they return from the west August 24. The Giants also face a long road trip, playing 16 single games, four against each western club, before they return to the Polo Grounds August 27.

The other National League contender, the Cubs, face a long home stay, playing the rest of their games this month at Wrigley Field after completing their 3-game series, opening today against the Cardinals at St. Louis.

Three home runs helped the Giants win from Brooklyn yesterday. Allen Lindstrom and Terry each hit homers. Lindstrom's single and Terry's double accounted for the other New York run.

The Philadelphia Athletics increased their American League lead to 8

games by winning from the Boston Red Sox, 13-4. Al Simmons hit his 26th homer and a pair of triples. Lefty Grove hit a homer with two on base.

Washington, idle yesterday because of the funeral of Mrs. Walter Johnson, wife of the Senators' manager, got back into action today with a double-header against the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium.

Detroit won a 12-inning game from the Chicago White Sox, 7-3, Vic Sorrell outpitching Ted Lyons.

Cleveland scored three runs in the ninth to beat the St. Louis Browns, 5-2.

American Association Tabs

Toledo, Aug. 5.—Ernie Wingard's homer with the bases loaded in the seventh inning yesterday accounted for Toledo's 6 to 4 victory over Minneapolis.

Louisville, Aug. 5.—A loosely played game in which 21 errors were made resulted in a 9 to 7 victory for Milwaukee over the Louisville Colonels here yesterday. Milwaukee made seven runs in the second inning and held the lead throughout.

Indianapolis, Aug. 5.—Smashing out 16 timely hits off three Blues pitchers, Indianapolis defeated Kansas City, 11 to 4, in a night game here last night.

Columbus, Aug. 5.—Although starting the first inning with a six-run lead, Columbus failed to follow up their advantage here yesterday and dropped the series opener to St. Paul, 12 to 9.

BALL PLAYERS MAY FIGHT, BUT DON'T HIT UMP

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—American association ball players can fight among themselves, without fear of disciplinary action from President Thomas J. Hickey as long as they don't strike an umpire.

President Hickey said today he would take no action against Ernie Smith, Minneapolis shortstop, for striking Pitcher Jesse Doyle of Columbus at Columbus Sunday. Yoter, Columbus third baseman, also took part in the fight and all three were chased from the game.

"As long as the umpire was not involved in the fight, I will take no action," said Hickey.

IF HEALTH IS YOUR GOAL GIVE NATURE A "BREAK"

By William F. Foley
(Famous Trainer and Coach of the Central High School, Washington, D. C.)

TRAINING theories are all right, I guess. Surely, I've had my share. But in the long run, I've found that helping Nature along, instead of trying to change her or improve on her, is just about the best policy. I've seen all kinds of lads come into my gym—little ones, big ones, skinny ones, and fat ones—and I have found that the boys who turned out best were the ones who were allowed offer one of the best methods of getting this necessary cellulose into the system, provided that they have the necessary cellulose to give the required "vegetable effect."

found some of the poorest physical specimens to be representatives of the richest families, while some of the finest types were sons of relatively poor folk.

My greatest joy is taking an undernourished, spindly youngster and trying to develop him into a normal being. I remember one such boy a few years ago. When he first came out for track he looked hopeless. He wanted to be a jumper. I suggested some light work and a carefully balanced diet weighted with cellulose content. This gave abounding health. Take cereals for example. All boys eat some kind of a cereal for breakfast. This is just what they need, as long as that cereal has the needed bulk to supply the body with a "vegetable effect." I know that one of the most popular cereals with my boys is whole rice. I can easily understand this, for it is extremely palatable, and the smooth bulk it furnishes never injures the stomach as do some of the other cereals with a rougher fibre content.

I have found that youngsters are even more serious and willing to follow suggestions than many more mature and seasoned athletes. They like to be put on their own. It gives them a feeling of responsibility, and makes them conscious that you have faith in their judgment.

I sat down the other night and made out a list of boys who have gained sufficient distinction under me to go into colleges and universities on full scholarships. I could remember nearly 450, including among others, "Biff" Jones, Bernie Wefers, Charlie Sykes, Arthur Duffy, Paul Cox, John Holden, Paul Magoffin, Maxey Long and Calvin Millans, the latter being the first 15-year-old boy to high jump 6 feet 1 inch in competition.

That's quite a list, and just goes to prove that Nature is the best trainer of all—if you only will get her to work with you.

EDITOR'S NOTE

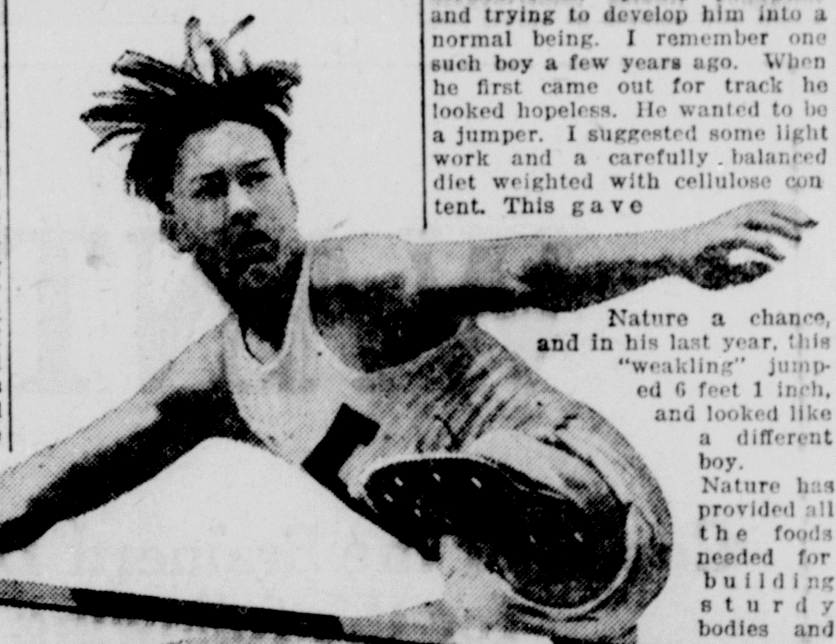

"Biff" Foley, justly called the Dean of American track, has done more to place secondary school athletics on their present high plane than probably any other trainer in the annals of sport. We asked him to give us the benefits of his 34 years experience in improving the physical well-being of thousands of boys. We believe his story is one of the most interesting and helpful it ever has been our privilege to present.

—Editor.

Navy and Army officers, and sons of diplomats from every country on the face of the globe. Central High is a public school, so we get boys from all stations of life—and the gym is the great common denominator. There they are all just "boys," and there I have to develop normally, without any high pressure pushing beyond their natural limits.

Unlike trainers in colleges, the material I get is completely "raw," and sometimes it's cruder than one would imagine. My boys are just commencing to take up some form of track athletics, and nearly all of them are woefully ignorant of what to eat or how to treat their bodies. Realizing this, and also the further fact that if they do develop into record breakers it will be later, in their college years, I never hurry them. I am proud of the fact that I have never "burned out" an embryonic athlete—never hurried a boy along so fast that he was kept from reaching his full stride later in life.

In thirty-four years you get a huge respect for the part the stomach plays in a youngster's development. Mistreat the stomach, and his whole development is retarded. A growing boy, eating as he will all sorts of things, should have plenty of cellulose in his food. By that I mean the roughage or bulk that is supplied by leafy and fibrous vegetables and certain cereals. These latter, I have observed, are most popular with adolescents; and they do

ACCORDING to both baseball tradition and fact, pitchers proverbially are poor hitters, so much so that the proposition is frequently advanced that the rules be changed so substitute batters can take a pitcher's turn at bat. Yet, every now and then a hurler comes to fan view with far more than ordinary ball-banging ability. "Red" Lucas of the Cincinnati Reds and "Ted" Lyons of the Chicago White Sox are so skilled at willow wielding that they are considered now among the best of pinch-hitters. In mid-season, Lucas was above the .400 mark and Lyons well into the .300 class. Of course, the more a player goes to bat the less his hitting average will be and neither "Red" nor "Ted" has had one-fourth the times at bat the average regular has. Nevertheless they are called on frequently to hit for some other player, and quite often they deliver hoped-for safeties in the pinch.

Lucas is 28 years old and Lyons 29. Both are seasoned pitchers of exceptional skill. If they were not that, and so valuable to their respective teams as such, it is likely that efforts would be made to convert them into outfielders so their batting power could be used to its fullest in every game.

Unless another "Babe" Ruth were likely, no big league club management would wish to switch a star pitcher to some other position because, scarce though they are, good batters can be obtained easier than first class hurlers. Should "Red" or "Ted" decline as mound artists, efforts undoubtedly would be made to use them as outfielders if they could develop a fair amount of skill in such positions.

There are a dozen or more notable instances in baseball where pitchers were converted into hard hitting outfielders, most conspicuous of which were the cases of "Cy" Seymour and the Ruth prodigy. "Cy" was changed when his curves began to fail; "Babe" when his tremendous clouting eclipsed even his remarkable pitching. Lucas and Lyons are not Seymours or Ruths, but, as dangerous pinch hitters, they're superb.

MYSTERY GANG KIDNAPED HIM

St. Paul, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—A mystery gang kidnaped him, took him for a ride and then threw him through a plate glass window, Martin Conley told police today. Conley was found early today suffering from severe cuts and bruises. Police are investigating his story.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Approved by two committees, the resolution advocating 15-round bouts in any Minnesota city authorized by the boxing commission was scheduled for action by the annual convention of the Minnesota Department of the American Legion today.

The present law allows 10-round no-decision bouts in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth only.

The resolution advocating the changes in the present boxing laws was approved during the first day of the convention by the resolution and legislative committees. Now the proposal will be brought up on the convention floor for a vote by the delegates.

The proposal, which was drawn up by Dr. James J. Morrow, Austin, chairman of the Legion's state boxing committee, would allow boxing in any Minnesota city which the boxing commission recognized. Fifteen rounds would be the maximum instead of the present ten and two more members, including a secretary, would be added to the present state boxing commission of three members. The secretary would be a full time worker on the commission with a salary of $4,000.

Legionnaires propose to bring the bill before the 1931 state legislature and, if the vote today is overwhelming, expect that the legislature will act to modify the present law without much delay.

One additional proposal for changing the state's boxing code was that the exclusive franchises now operating in the Twin Cities be broken up by allowing one promoter for every 100,000 or fraction of the city's population. Considerable discussion and possibly defeat of this change was expected.

E. G. Hall, St. Paul, president of the Minnesota Federation of Labor, asked the delegates to employ ex-service men wherever possible.

A. B. Kapplin, Duluth, and Oscar Youngdahl, Minneapolis, were regarded as the two outstanding candidates for the post of state commander.

Col. Ralph Webb, mayor of Winnipeg, headed a Canadian delegation of world war veterans who visited the convention's opening yesterday. He invited the veterans to visit Canada after the convention is adjourned.

Committee appointments for the convention include:

Legislative committee—Harold Corona, Stillwater, and Mike Murray, St. Cloud.

Resolution committee—Lloyd Doulliner, Stillwater, Arthur Hagberg, Brainerd, and Otto Bystrom, Moorhead.

BABE RUTH HITS HIS 41ST HOME RUN OF SEASON

Yankee Stadium, New York, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Babe Ruth hit his 41st home run of the season in the sixth inning of today's first game of a double header against the Washington Senators.

The drive in right center drove to the scoreboard, a distance of about 450 feet, came with no one on base.

Irving Hadley was pitching.

TOE NAILS TELL ALL ABOUT YOU

Detroit, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Your age, your disposition, your likes and dislikes, and your general state of health all are revealed by your toe nails, but most of the secrets are safe, for it takes a chiropodist to read the signs.

Speakers at the nineteenth annual convention of the National Association of Chiropodists explained their secrets.

Furrows on the nail indicate the years, just as rings in a tree show its age. A short stubby toe nail usually is possessed by a selfish, self-centered individual, while the long, narrow and lightly oval nail denotes a man or woman who is mentally alert, keen, refined and a generally nice person to be around.

SECOND PLACE CHICAGO CUBS BACK IN ACTION

FINAL GAME BROOKLYN-NEW YORK SERIES HAS ADDED IMPORTANCE

GIANTS ASSUMED LEAD IN CRUCIAL SERIES, WINNING YESTERDAY

With the second-place Chicago Cubs swinging back into action today after an open date, the final game of the Brooklyn-New York series at Ebbets Field took on added importance in the National League pennant race.

The Giants assumed the lead in the crucial series, two games to one, by winning yesterday, 4-0, and reducing the Robins' lead over the Cubs to 2½ games. The third-place Giants are four games behind the Robins.

Today's game against the Giants will be the last home game for Brooklyn, barring a Sunday game with the Pirates on August 17, until they return from the west August 24. The Giants also face a long road trip, playing 16 single games, four against each western club, before they return to the Polo Grounds August 27.

The other National League contender, the Cubs, face a long home stay, playing the rest of their games this month at Wrigley Field after completing their 3-game series, opening today against the Cardinals at St. Louis.

Three home runs helped the Giants win from Brooklyn yesterday. Allen, Lindstrom and Terry each hit homers. Lindstrom's single and Terry's double accounted for the other New York run.

The Philadelphia Athletics increased their American League lead to 8

games by winning from the Boston Red Sox, 13-4. Al Simmons hit his 26th homer and a pair of triples. Lefty Grove hit a homer with two on base.

Washington, idle yesterday because of the funeral of Mrs. Walter Johnson, wife of the Senators' manager, got back into action today with a double-header against the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium.

Detroit won a 12-inning game from the Chicago White Sox, 7-3, Vic Sorrell outpitching Ted Lyons.

Cleveland scored three runs in the ninth to beat the St. Louis Browns, 5-2.

Toledo, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—Ernie Wingard's homer with the bases loaded in the seventh inning yesterday accounted for Toledo's 6 to 4 victory over Minneapolis.

Louisville, Aug. 5.—A loosely played game in which 21 errors were made resulted in a 9 to 7 victory for Milwaukee over the Louisville Colonels here yesterday. Milwaukee made seven runs in the second inning and held the lead throughout.

Indianapolis, Aug. 5.—Smashing out 16 timely hits off three Blues pitchers, Indianapolis defeated Kansas City, 11 to 4, in a night game here last night.

Columbus, Aug. 5.—Although starting the first inning with a six-run lead, Columbus failed to follow up their advantage here yesterday and dropped the series opener to St. Paul, 12 to 9.

BALL PLAYERS MAY FIGHT, BUT DON'T HIT UMP'S

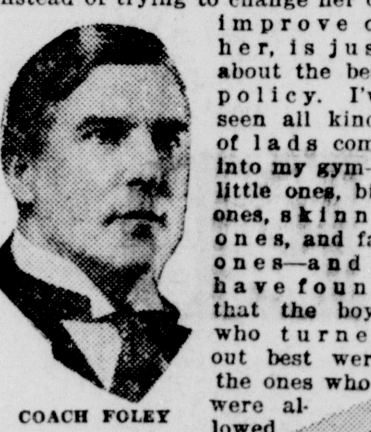

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(U.P.)—American association ball players can fight among themselves, without fear of disciplinary action from President Thomas J. Hickey as long as they don't strike an umpire.

President Hickey said today he would take no action against Ernie Smith, Minneapolis shortstop, for striking Pitcher Jesse Doyle of Columbus at Columbus Sunday. Yoter, Columbus third baseman, also took part in the fight and all three were chased from the game. "As long as the umpire was not involved in the fight, I will take no action," said Hickey.

IF HEALTH IS YOUR GOAL GIVE NATURE A "BREAK"

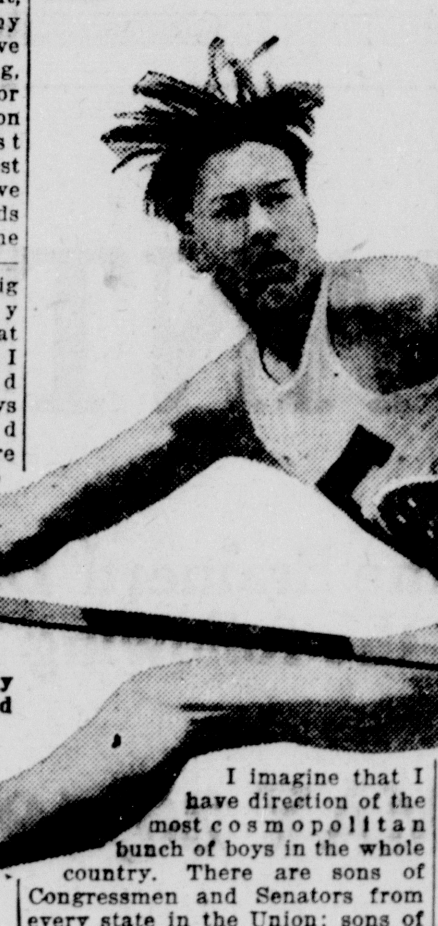

By William F. Foley
(Famous Trainer and Coach of the Central High School, Washington, D. C.)

TRAINING theories are all right, I guess. Surely, I've had my share. But in the long run, I've found that helping Nature along, instead of trying to change her or improve on her, is just about the best policy. I've seen all kinds of lads come into my gym—little ones, big ones, skinny ones, and fat ones—and I have found that the boys who turned out best were the ones who were allowed offer one of the best methods of getting this necessary cellulose into the system, provided that they have the necessary cellulose to give the required "vegetable effect."

found some of the poorest physical specimens to be representative of the richest families, while some of the finest types were sons of relatively poor folk. My greatest joy is taking an undernourished, spindly youngster and trying to develop him into a normal being. I remember one such boy a few years ago. When he first came out for track he looked hopeless. He wanted to be a jumper. I suggested some light work and a carefully balanced diet weighted with cellulose content. This gave Nature a chance, and in his last year, this "weakling" jumped 6 feet 1 inch, and looked like a different boy. Nature has provided all the foods needed for building sturdy bodies and abounding health. Take cereals for example. All boys eat some kind of a cereal for breakfast. This is just what they need, as long as that cereal has the needed bulk to supply the body with a "vegetable effect."

I know that one of the most popular cereals with my boys is whole rice. I can easily understand this, for it is extremely palatable, and the smooth bulk it furnishes never injures the stomach as do some of the other cereals with a rougher fibre content. I have found that youngsters are even more serious and willing to follow suggestions than many more mature and seasoned athletes. They like to be put on their own. It gives them a feeling of responsibility, and makes them conscious that you have faith in their judgment.

I sat down the other night and made out a list of boys who have gained sufficient distinction under me to go into colleges and universities on full scholarships. I could remember nearly 450, including among others, "Bill" Jones, Bernie Wetters, Charlie Sykes, Arthur Duffy, Paul Cox, John Holden, Paul Magoffin, Maxey Long and Calvin Milans, the latter being the first 15-year-old boy to high jump 6 feet 1 inch in competition. That's quite a list, and just goes to prove that Nature is the best trainer of all—if you only let her work with you.

EDITOR'S NOTE

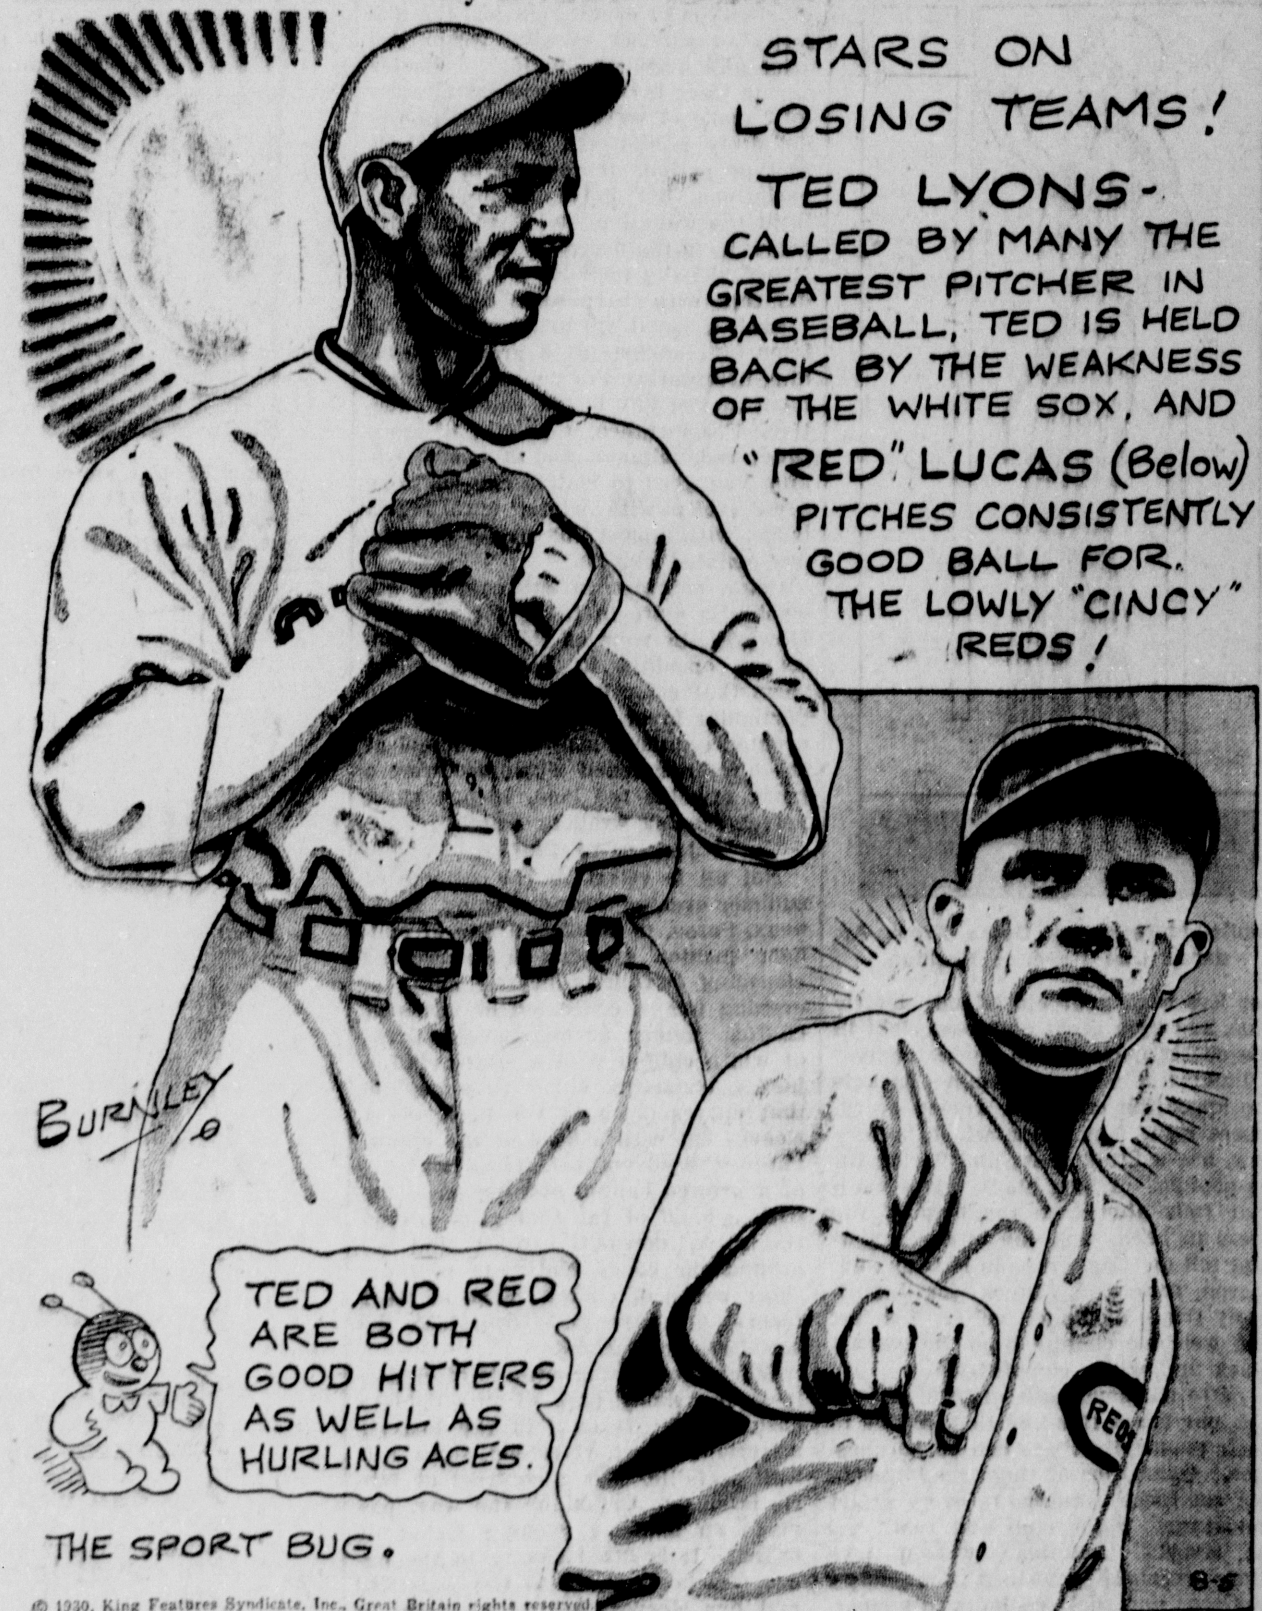

"Bill" Foley, justly called the Dean of American track, has done more to place secondary school athletes on their present high plane than probably any other trainer in the annals of sport. We asked him to give us the benefits of his 34 years experience in improving the physical well-being of thousands of boys. We believe his story is one of the most interesting and helpful it ever has been our privilege to present.

ACCORDING to both baseball tradition and fact, pitchers proverbially are poor hitters, so much so that the proposition is frequently advanced that the rules be changed so substitute-batters can take a pitcher's turn at bat. Yet, every now and then a hurler comes to fan view with far more than ordinary ball-banging ability.

"Red" Lucas of the Cincinnati Reds and "Ted" Lyons of the Chicago White Sox are so skilled at willow wielding that they are considered now among the best of pinch-hitters. In mid-season, Lucas was above the 400 mark and Lyons well into the 300 class. Of course, the more a player goes to bat the less his hitting average will be and neither "Red" nor "Ted" has had one-fourth the times at bat the average regular has. Nevertheless they are called on frequently to hit for some other player, and quite often they deliver hoped-for safeties in the pinch.

Lucas is 28 years old and Lyons 29. Both are seasoned pitchers of exceptional skill. If they were not that, and so valuable to their respective teams as such, it is likely that efforts would be made to convert them into outfielders so their batting power could be used to its fullest in every game.

Unless another "Babe" Ruth were likely, no big league club management would wish to switch a star pitcher to some other position because, scarce though they are, good batters can be obtained easier than first class hurlers. Should "Red" or "Ted" decline as mound artists, efforts undoubtedly would be made to use them as outfielders if they could develop a fair amount of skill in such positions.

There are a dozen or more notable instances in baseball where pitchers were converted into hard hitting outfielders, most conspicuous of which were the cases of "Cy" Seymour and the Ruth prodigy. "Cy" was changed when his curves began to fail; "Babe" when his tremendous clouting eclipsed even his remarkable pitching. Lucas and Lyons are not Seymour or Ruths, but, as dangerous pinch hitters, they're superb.

Dainty Modes for Summer Evenings

Grecian Influence Shows No Weakening; Gowns Are Simple in Line.

For that listless feeling brought on by summer weather no cure is quite so effective as a new personality or two. To acquire one is not difficult these days, says a fashion writer in the New York Times. Women can turn the trick simply by getting a few new summer evening dresses. They are so varied, these new frocks, so infinitely wearable, so charming and at last, so intelligently adapted to different kinds of figures.

In the light of recent developments in the evening mode, the good old advice about dressing to suit your type does not, for once, sound very impressive. Are you so sure what your type is? If you are, why not try a change? Fashion was never more accommodating or more resourceful—she stands ready to make you appear sophisticated one night and downright quaint the next. One needs to keep a firm hold on discrimination, of course, but it is well to approach these newest offerings with an open mind and an adventurous spirit.

The Grecian influence shows no signs of weakening. Witness one stunning interpretation of it in the Lanvin gown. Of white chiffon, it is classically simple in line. The wide beaded yoke defining a slender waist and the graceful accordion-pleated skirt give it tremendous distinction.

The "table bell" silhouette with its outward flare at the hem is another which the fashion-wise are watching with an eye to the future. This, you remember, was introduced at the February Paris openings and was an immediate hit. It is immensely popular for summer and shows every indication of being carried over in the fall in the heavier fabrics, such as the new crisp velvets. One of the successes of Chanel's midseason collection is a new version of the table bell idea.

For the Young and Fragile.

A moonlight frock, if there ever was one, is the Ardanne model. The skirt looks even at the hem, but is really composed of many little pieces, and these and the soft flounces on the frock float vaguely about the wearer as she walks. It would be nice, by the way, if she were young and blond and fragile, because the dress is of fine white marquisette, made dramatic by a flash here and there of velvet ribbon in a color that is nothing more warm peach, through orange to reddish brown, are sponsored by one of the leading New York shops, Chiffon is Popular.

Chiffon in plain colors, as well as printed, figures prominently in the evening mode. Heavy sheers, such as georgette and crepe roma, are favorites with many designers, as are mousseline de soie, and soufflé de soie, a new silk that is even softer and lighter. Young people are going in for organdie. Lace is still with us, in black, in white and in pastels, and few travelers can overlook a fabric which packs so well. By the way, those who insist upon sunburn will find evening frocks of dead white lace quite madly becoming. Thick, stiff net, both in silk and cotton, is much liked, and Lelong features fallie and taffeta, brocaded here and there with tiny gold or silver stars. Satin damask and satin velvet are two of the loveliest new evening materials in the Paris collections for early fall.

As one by one the annual summer crop of night blooming supper clubs begins the reason, fashion interest naturally gravitates about costumes for dining and dancing out. Particularly engaging are the evening wraps of courtier design or inspiration, designed to complement the dresses of the hour, and happily versatile in the matter of price! In amusing juxtaposition to the classic, long-lined sophistication of evening gowns, the majority of summer evening wraps are brief and decidedly quaint. A leader among them is Chanel's revived "pale-tot," made of velvet or velveteen, and definitely reminiscent of the daguerreotype period. It appears in several variations, but is invariably nipped in at the waistline, and flared slightly below it, in the accepted 1860 manner. It occasionally includes a little shoulder cape with charming effect.

Such a small garment is often the important nucleus of a group of evening accessories. For such an arrangement almost any bright color is effective. For instance, a pale-tot of geranium red, slippers and a small evening bag dyed to match, can be worn successfully with white, with black, beige, with almost any pastel or summer printed chiffon.

Color contrast in an evening ensemble is quite in favor for summer. However, in view of the recent midseason openings in Paris, it would seem that color harmonies will be in particular favor. One of the loveliest evening costumes shown by Chanel at the aforementioned openings was a gown of wine red lace, with a short velvet evening wrap to match.

nor less than your old friend, electric blue, and by a great pink rose right in the center back of the double cape. Innumerable little ermine jackets are appearing on smart women everywhere right now. One which is very new, has a fitted waist and flaring little peplum. A long black velvet wrap that falls almost to the hem of the dress in back, was one of the important fall evening wraps in Patou's midseason collection. Black fox luxuriously trims the black velvet, a smart and welcome change from the eternal black and white combination.

As to the smartness of printed chiffon, one hears this and that, but as to their popularity there can be no question. Quantities of them are blossoming out these evenings in every smart restaurant, night club and roof, and at resorts. American women love their exquisite colorings, their misty patterns and their coolness in appearance and in fact, printed flat crepe is liked, too.

Black and white still queen it over colors in the evening mode, the only change being that, with the coming of summer, white tends to outstrip black. The antique ivory craze launched by Chanel threatens to sweep the land, but variety and color in accessories will keep the scene from becoming monotonous. A few extremely smart women are appearing at summer formal affairs in sheer dark brown and dark blue—a hint that this trend is likely to develop importantly in the fall. All of the pastels are enjoying their annual summer run, with blue, and then pink, rather ahead of the rest. The zinnia tones, shading from

Old Charlie was just a cow pony.
All saddle-marked, buck-kneed and lank
With scars where the cruel wire cut him,
And Double-O brand on the flank.
His sire was just one of the herd—
His mother as common as he;
But little we thought as we galloped,
Of blood lines that make pedigrees.
He carried us safe to the school house
Through the mud or the sleet or the snow,
And never put up an objection
Whenever we wanted to go.
And dull was that bright day of autumn,
And many the tears that we shed,
When father came up from the barnyard
And told us old Charlie was dead.
Sometimes in my dreaming I ride him
Again through the snow and the rain
And galloping on in my fancy
I hear the wind sing through his mane.
I hope on the great day of judgement
Somewhere and somehow there will be
A pasture for faithful cow ponies
Like Charlie, without pedigree.

The Mimic World

The stage is referred to as the legitimate stage in the sense of its being normal, regular, comfortable to a recognized standard type. Originally the legitimate drama was that body of plays, Shakespearean or other, that have a recognized theatrical and literary merit.

Idea for "Movies"

A psychologist suggests that the superfluous of the future may be accompanied by a sequence of scenes wafted through the theater, to bring the audience more completely into the atmosphere of the forest, the apple orchard, the farmhouse kitchen, or other scenes of the story.

20 COUNTRIES TOG WELL-DRESSED MAN

Walking Economic League of Nations Is Homo.

Washington.—What will the well-dressed business man wear this summer?

London and New York haberdashers have their own answer to that question; geography predicts he will wear the products of 20 foreign countries, more or less.

"If bright national labels were pasted on the pieces of masculine wearing apparel wholly or partly of foreign origin, the well-dressed business man would look like a trunk just returned from a world tour of the best hotels," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from its headquarters in Washington, D.C. "From top to the toe this American, attired for the street, is a walking economic League of Nations."

"He may declare that his hat came from Danbury, Conn., his shirt and collar from Troy, N. Y., his necktie from Paterson, N. J., his coat and trousers from a local tailor, his fountain pen from Chicago, his money from a United States mint, and his shoes from Massachusetts; but that isn't half of it.

The Matter of Hats.

"Take his hat, for example. It may have been made in Italy, Ecuador or the Philippines. If it was made in the United States, the straw probably came from abroad, from Switzerland, Italy, China or Japan. In one recent year the United States imported 300,000 miles of braided straw for hats.

"The leather sweatband probably came from a New Zealand sheep; the filmy gauze of cotton net under the crown from England.

"His collar, a trim, gleaming collar that resists wilting, probably owes much of its stability to long staple cotton from Egypt. Extra fine shirts also have in their weaves long staple cotton, possibly grown in Arizona or among the lowlands of the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida, or in the British West Indies, but more probably in Egypt.

"The silk of the necktie comes from Japan, of course; but if it is one of the cheap variety, sort of stiff, the kind that looks fine the first time it is tied, bad the second, terrible the third, then it is probably loaded with tin from Singapore.

Even His Coat.

"His coat, his light summer coat of mohair, is Turkey's and India's and Ecuador's gift to America. Mohair from Turkish goats, jute (bur-lap) cloth lining from the Ganges delta to make the coat hold its shape, and tagua buttons from Ecuador or Colombia.

"The entangling alliances of this American's feet are indeed wonderful to contemplate. Four continents, at the very least, annually save millions of United States citizens from pattering around barefoot.

"Now for a look in the business man's pocket. That fountain pen with a bright case of casein—where did it come from? From a cow, not an American cow, in all probability, but an Argentine cow, because in Argentina there is a smaller demand for milk for food than in the United States. Casein for pens and similar objects is solidified milk. The gold of the pen point may be American—or it may be South African. The very point of the pen, the part he writes with, is not gold, but iridium most likely from the platinum mines of Soviet Russia's Ural mountains.

"The yellow pencil in the coat pocket has a lead of American or Mexican graphite, and paint colored by Rhodesian chrome yellow, bound by American or Argentinian linseed oil, and provided with a durable surface by lac from India, perhaps, or tung oil from far up the Yangtze in China, or kauri gum from New Zealand bogs.

Some Incidentals.

"Paper of his pocket memo pad may be all-American; more probably it is Canadian. Cigarettes are doubtless of American tobacco with a pinch of Turkish tobacco from Greek Macedonia, too, it may be, and wrapped in cigarette paper from France. And the good American money in his wallet and his pocket, an American product surely! But no, the green of the greenback is chrome green made from Rhodesia or Mozambique chrome. He may shun a Canadian dime, but never a Canadian nickel, for nearly all our nickels are Canadian. The chief U. S. A. contributions to a nickel are the Indian and the buffalo."

Quantities of them are blossoming out these evenings in every smart restaurant, night club and roof, and at resorts. American women love their exquisite colorings, their misty patterns and their coolness in appearance and in fact, printed flat crepe is liked, too.

Black and white still queen it over colors in the evening mode, the only change being that, with the coming of summer, white tends to outstrip black. The antique ivory craze launched by Chanel threatens to sweep the land, but variety and color in accessories will keep the scene from becoming monotonous. A few extremely smart women are appearing at summer formal affairs in sheer dark brown and dark blue—a hint that this trend is likely to develop importantly in the fall. All of the pastels are enjoying their annual summer run, with blue, and then pink, rather ahead of the rest. The zinnia tones, shedding from warm peach, through orange to reddish brown, are sponsored by one of the leading New York shops.

Chiffon Is Popular.

Chiffon in plain colors, as well as printed, figures prominently in the evening mode. Heavy sheers, such as georgette and crepe roma, are favorites with many designers, as are mousseline de soie, and soufflé de soie, a new silk that is even softer and lighter. Young people are going in for organdie. Lace is still with us, in black, in white and in pastels, and few travelers can overlook a fabric which packs so well. By the way, those who insist upon sunburn will find evening frocks of dead white lace quite madly becoming. Thick, stiff net, both in silk and cotton, is much liked, and Lelong features faille and taffeta, brocaded here and there with tiny gold or silver stars. Satin damask and satin velvet are two of the loveliest new evening materials in the Paris collections for early fall.

As one by one the annual summer crop of night blooming supper clubs begins the season, fashion interest naturally gravitates about costumes for dining and dancing out. Particularly engaging are the evening wraps of couturier design or inspiration, designed to complement the dresses of the hour, and happily versatile in the matter of price! In amusing juxtaposition to the classic, long-lined sophistication of evening gowns, the majority of summer evening wraps are brief and decidedly quaint. A leader among them is Chanel's revived "paleto", made of velvet or velveteen, and definitely reminiscent of the daguerreotype period. It appears in several variations, but is invariably nipped in at the waistline, and flared slightly below it, in the accepted 1860 manner. It occasionally includes a little shoulder cape with charming effect.

Such a small garment is often the important nucleus of a group of evening accessories. For such an arrangement almost any bright color is effective. For instance, a paleto of geranium red, slippers and a small evening bag dyed to match, can be worn successfully with white, with black, beige, with almost any pastel or summer printed chiffon.

Color contrast in an evening ensemble is quite in favor for summer. However, in view of the recent midseason openings in Paris, it would seem that color harmonies will be in particular favor. One of the loveliest evening costumes shown by Chanel at the aforementioned openings was a gown of wine red lace, with a short velvet evening wrap to match.

Jackets of Chiffon.

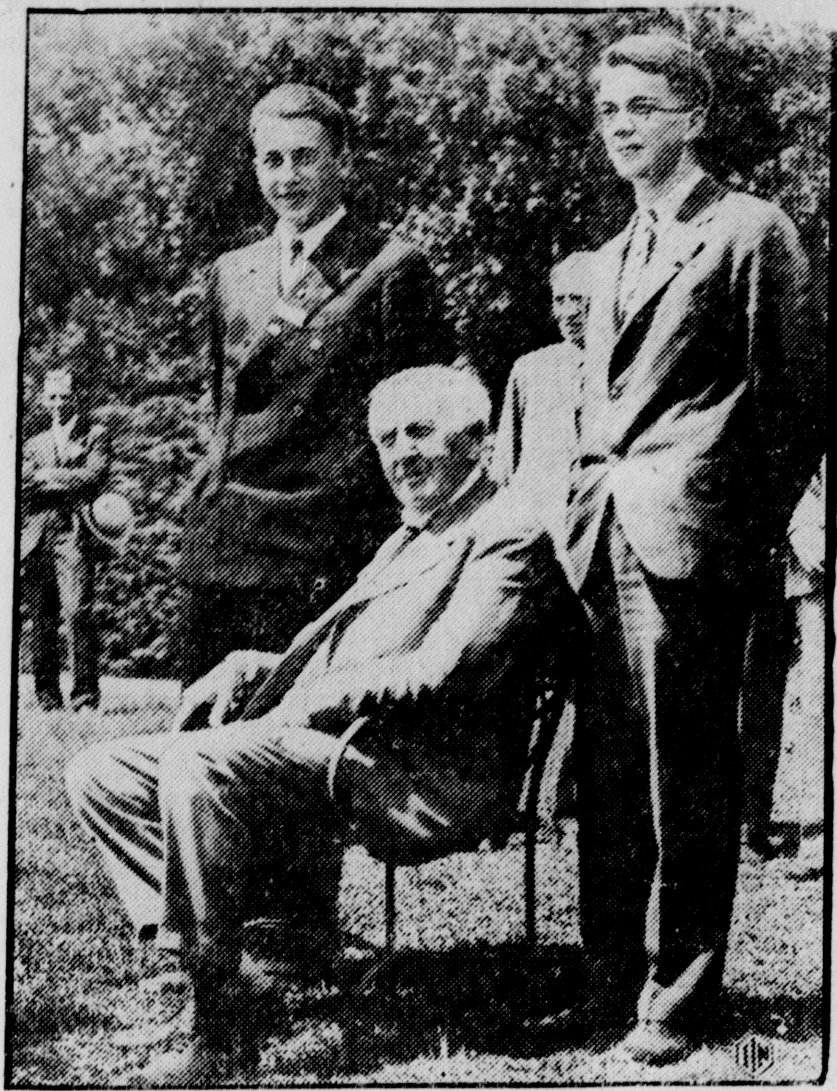

Not all is velvet in the scheme of summer evening wraps. Lelong, Molyneux, Patou, to mention a trio of eminent fashion arbiters, have created charming frivolities in the name of evening wraps, concocted of wisps of chiffon. Lelong accompanies a dress of white chiffon with a white chiffon jacket, collarless, cut with a peplum that curves down at the back, short sleeves cut with a flare at the elbow. Patou, the adventurer, trims the cape of a printed chiffon evening ensemble with a band of fur that goes around the neck, down the front and all around the edge. Molyneux presents short wraps of chiffon, some in scarf form that drape and wrap into the semblance of jackets.

When the evening wrap is of chiffon it is invariably part of one definite ensemble. It is only in the heavier materials, velvet, velveteen, satin, taffeta or faille, that a contrast of fabric is smart. Callot, by the way, has made an amusing evening jacket of taffeta. It is fitted snugly to the figure, reaches exactly to the waistline and has sleeves that fit the arm to the elbow, then flare out in an exaggerated bell that is edged all around with a double band of puffing—shades of crinolines!

Youth is being particularly well served, as far as summer evening wraps are concerned. For all their almost uniform quality of old-fashioned charm, the new brief jackets are young and modern in spirit. Whether or not she elects to wear a dress of classic line and design, that will add—she feels certain—sophistication to her youthful charms, a peplum, hip-length evening jacket will keep a young lady young!

All this brevity in the matter of evening wraps is only, one suspects, a summer arrangement.

Old Charlie was just a cow pony,
All saddle-marked, buck-kneed and lank
With scars where the cruel wire cut him,
And Double-O brand on the flank.
His sire was just one of the herd—
His mother as common as he;
But little we thought as we galloped,
Of blood lines that make pedigree.

He carried us safe to the school house
Through the mud or the sleet or the snow,
And never put up an objection
Whenever we wanted to go.
And dull was that bright day of autumn,
And many the tears that we shed,
When father came up from the barnyard
And told us old Charlie was dead.

Sometimes in my dreaming I ride him
Again through the snow and the rain
And galloping on in my fancy
I hear the wind sing through his mane.
I hope, on the great day of judgement,
Somewhere and somehow there will be
A pasture for faithful cow ponies
Like Charlie, without pedigree.

20 COUNTRIES TOG WELL-DRESSED MAN

Walking Economic League of Nations Is Homo.

Washington.—What will the well-dressed business man wear this summer?

London and New York haberdashers have their own answer to that question; geography predicts he will wear the products of 20 foreign countries, more or less.

"If bright national labels were pasted on the pieces of masculine wearing apparel wholly or partly of foreign origin, the well-dressed business man would look like a trunk just returned from a world tour of the best hotels," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from its headquarters in Washington, D. C.

"From top to the toe this American, attired for the street, is a walking economic League of Nations. "He may declare that his hat came from Danbury, Conn., his shirt and collar from Troy, N. Y., his necktie from Paterson, N. J., his coat and trousers from a local tailor, his fountain pen from Chicago, his money from a United States mint, and his shoes from Massachusetts; but that isn't half of it.

The Matter of Hats.

"Take his hat, for example. It may have been made in Italy, Ecuador or the Philippines. If it was made in the United States, the straw probably came from abroad, from Switzerland, Italy, China or Japan. In one recent year the United States imported 300,000 miles of braided straw for hats.

"The leather sweatband probably came from a New Zealand sheep; the filmy gauze of cotton net under the crown from England.

"His collar, a trim, gleaming collar that resists wilting, probably owes much of its stability to long staple cotton from Egypt. Extra fine shirts also have in their weaves long staple cotton, possibly grown in Arizona or among the lowlands of the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida, or in the British West Indies, but more probably in Egypt.

"The silk of the necktie comes from Japan, of course; but if it is one of the cheap variety, sort of stiff, the kind that looks fine the first time it is tied, bad the second, terrible the third, then it is probably loaded with tin from Singapore.

Even His Coat.

"His coat, his light summer coat of mohair, is Turkey's and India's and Ecuador's gift to America. Mohair from Turkish goats, jute (bur-lap) cloth lining from the Ganges delta to make the coat hold its shape, and tagua buttons from Ecuador or Colombia.

"The entangling alliances of this American's feet are indeed wonderful to contemplate. Four continents, at the very least, annually save millions of United States citizens from pattering around barefoot.

"Now for a look in the business man's pocket. That fountain pen with a bright case of casein—where did it come from? From a cow, not an American cow, in all probability, but an Argentine cow, because in Argentina there is a smaller demand for milk for food than in the United States. Casein for pens and similar objects is solidified milk. The gold of the pen point may be American—or it may be South African. The very point of the pen, the part he writes with, is not gold, but iridium most likely from the platinum mines of Soviet Russia's Ural mountains.

"The yellow pencil in the coat pocket has a lead of American or Mexican graphite, and paint colored by Rhodesian chrome yellow, bound by American or Argentinian linseed oil, and provided with a durable surface by lac from India, perhaps, or tung oil from far up the Yangtze in China, or kauri gum from New Zealand bogs.

Some Incidentals.

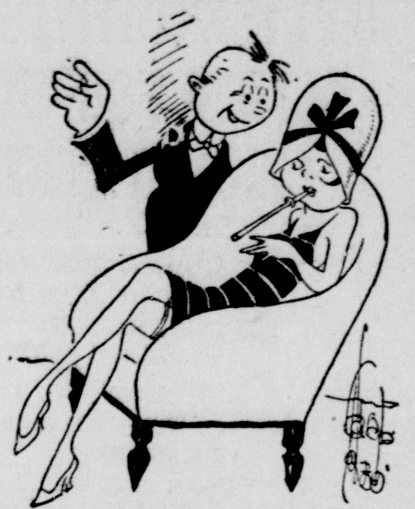

"Taper of his pocket memo pad may be all-American; more probably it is Canadian. Cigarettes are doubtless of American tobacco with a pinch of Turkish tobacco from Greek Macedonia, too, it may be, and wrapped in cigarette paper from France. And the good American money in his wallet and his pocket, an American product surely! But no, the green of the greenback is chrome green made from Rhodesia or Mozambique chrome. He may shun a Canadian dime, but never a Canadian nickel, for nearly all our nickels are Canadian. The chief U. S. A. contributions to a nickel are the Indian and the buffalo."

PAVING BONDS TAKEN BY CITY DEPARTMENTS

Sinking Fund Commissioners Purchase $9400, Fire Association Buys $5300

COMPLETE ISSUE FINANCED

Council Considers Request of Oil Dealers to Reduce Gas Pump Licenses

Brainerd will finance its own paving bonds.

When the paving work in east downtown was authorized by the city council at an expenditure of approximately $19,000, the council decided to give city departments first chance at purchase of bonds and thus avoid paying a large interest to outside purchasers.

Power of sale of $9,400 bonds at par to be dated August 1, 1930 at 5 percent per annum payable semi annually was extended the treasurer to the Sinking Fund Commissioners.

The Brainerd Fire Relief Association will take $5,300 in paving bonds while the remainder of the issue will be paid in cash by the property owners affected.

By purchase of the bonds the two groups receive the benefit of higher interest on money handled by them.

A representative group of oil dealers in Brainerd appeared before the council and requested a reduction in the license fees for gasoline pumps. Their plan outlined the payment of $25 for the first pump and $5 for each additional pump. At the present time the license fee is $25 for each pump in use.

The request was referred to the street committee for a report.

Mrs. E. T. Fleener, city clerk, informed the council she is having trouble collecting gasoline pump licenses. At the present time three are not paid, she said. The matter of collection of delinquent licenses was referred to the Chief of Police.

"Last year I went around with the Chief and collected over $600 in licenses," Mrs. Fleener stated.

Alderman V. F. Anderson, chairman of the finance committee, recommended that $1,645.12, the cost of the audit of city books by the state, be not paid at this time, since no allowance had been made for it in the present year's budget.

"We will include it in the next budget," Mr. Anderson suggested.

His report was accepted. Commenting on the audit, Alderman W. J. Lyons said: "It's like paying for a dead horse. It's terrible."

Ask Crossing Paving

On motion of Alderman W. J. Hall and Ernest Ritari, City Engineer P. T. Campbell was instructed to write Northern Pacific railway officials asking for the construction of a crossing on 10th street to open a road from Front to Laurel streets while the paving work is being done and also to ask for the placing of concrete paving between the tracks on the North 8th street crossing.

The paving of the crossing on North 8th street, if approved by railway officials, will fill a long felt need.

Mr. Campbell reported that the southeast curb and sidewalk on 8th and Front streets were in need of repair. He was instructed to make the necessary repairs.

A report of the Brainerd Park Board for the month of July showed: Balance on hand July 1, $465.69; receipts during July, $922.25; disbursements, $1,201.80; balance on hand August 1, $186.14.

The report of the water and light department for the month of July showed: receipts, $13,308.43; disbursements, $19,055.64.

Milk and cream licenses, approved by the city dairy inspector were granted the following: Alexander Moe, William Wendt, Mary Isaacson, Hannah Hendrickson, Mrs. L. A. Favrou, Carl Gordon.

Residents of North 10th street reported in a petition they had solved the washout problem on their street. They recommended the placing of a catch basin on the corner of Grove and 10th streets. The matter was referred to the street committee and city engineer to report at the next meeting.

Fire Chief Frank Fuller presented in a letter a list of items needed for the city fire hall the next year and asked that they be considered in the making of the budget for the department. The items totalled $600. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Joe Smudy has purchased a new Willis-Knight.

A. Coffield and sons motored to Braierd Saturday morning on business.

Mrs. Henry Mangold had two teeth extracted a week ago and is having some trouble with them healing up. We hope she will soon be all right.

Will Fahneschik and Henry Tempin called at Coffield's one night last week.

Several of the people around here motored to Mille Lacs Lake Sunday afternoon and got caught in a rain storm also some hail.

Mrs. Fred Brand has been having company the past week from southern Minnesota.

The Modern Woodmen lodge met Friday, August 2 at Will Marohn's.

Frank Groshan and Joe Miller are brushing the town road getting ready for the county graders which expect to start in tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Dykeman and family called at Bert Cooley's Sunday evening.

Bert Cooley was a business caller in Braierd Saturday.

The county grader is in our town now and has started grading the road so we expect to have good roads soon.

TWO MORE OFFICERS PUT ON CITY BEATS

Council Approves Choice of Bankers in Move to Give City Fine Protection

BRANDT, NESHEIM NAMED

Do Plain Clothes Work Downtown: Banks and Other Institutions Benefitted

The city council last evening accepted the recommendation of officials of banks in the city of Braierd and appointed two Braierd men named by the bankers as plain clothes men for the city.

The new officers to receive beats in the city are: Frank Brandt, former motorcycle policeman for the county and Ted Nesheim, former deputy sheriff of Crow Wing county. The men will receive regular officers pay, half the cost of maintenance to be paid by banks in the city.

The increase to the city police force will give added protection to banks and other Braierd institutions.

Cars Collide at Corner

Two cars were slightly damaged in an accident last evening at the corner of Kingwood and Broadway. The one vehicle was driven by D. Schindler, Braierd, the other by an Illinois motorist who left soon after the accident without reporting his name to authorities.

TURBINE IN POWER PLANT EXPLODES

Canton, O., Aug. 5. — (UP) — All of downtown Canton was rocked when the huge turbine in the power plant of the furnace division of the Republic Steel Corporation exploded, injuring 19 men, two seriously, today. Damage was estimated at $60,000 to $75,000.

JAIL LAKE

County commissioners of Braierd looked over the new road built through here some time ago. John Dewing, one of the commissioners, called at the home of his niece Mrs. Glenn Glover Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Huffman of Remer called at the home of his mother at the Wm. Huffman home. Mrs. Huffman is spending the week picking berries.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bell of Willmar are spending the week at their cabin at Camp Goyle.

Mrs. Hildur Peterson, Edna and Ernest Johnson called at the Glenn Glover home on business Monday evening.

Everyone was sorry to hear that Richard Anderson was taken sick Tuesday. He was taken to the Braierd hospital. After he was examined it was found he had appendicitis. At this writing he is doing nicely. He has the sympathy of the community in his trouble.

Hazel Glover who has been in the St. Joseph hospital for the past two weeks was brought home Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Glover. She is getting along nicely after her trip home.

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of Braierd that this Body consent and approve the investment by the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners of the sum of Nine Thousand Four Hundred Dollars ($9,400.00) in Certificates of Indebtedness of the City of Braierd, dated August 1st, 1930, and numbered Two (2), Three (3), and Four (4), and Revolving Fund Bonds dated August 1st, 1930, Numbered One (1), Two (2), Three (3), Four (4), Five (5), and Six (6); said certificates and bonds to be purchased at par and sold by the City Council according to the provisions of the City Charter of the City of Braierd, on August 4th, 1930.

Passed this 4th day of August, 1930.

V. E. QUANSTROM,

President of the City Council.

Approved this 5th day of August, 1930.

(Seal) F. E. LITTLE, Mayor.

Attest: E. T. FLEENER, City Clerk.

INSPECTION BY PUBLIC

Meeting in Interests of Independent Merchant at Chamber Rooms in Evening

The "Independence," Ford tri-motored airplane, the property of Reid, Murdoch and Co. will arrive in Braierd at the Rosko Airport at 10 a. m. Thursday for a 24 hour stop, according to word received today by C. F. Kittinger, district representative of the food concern, from S. P. Stevens, vice president and general manager, Chicago.

The plane will carry a miniature grocery store of canned goods and will be open to inspection by the public during its stay here.

Thursday evening a meeting in the interests of the independent merchant will be held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms with officials accompanying the plane speaking.

"Crazy" Johns, widely known pilot, is again operating the plane this year.

The "Independence" paid Braierd a visit last summer.

YO-YO CRAZE HITS YOUNG, OLD HERE

Are you yo-yoing? This is a popular greeting among people, young and old in Braierd for the sport which originated in the Philippines has delivered a knockout blow here.

The craze is sweeping the city. One Braierd merchant reported he sold over 300 of the toys yesterday alone.

Young and old are practicing the sport on city streets, in their homes, in stores and on country highways.

COMBUSTIONEER FURNASTOKER IS NOW READY TO PROVIDE YOUR HOME WITH AUTOMATIC HEAT

Can you afford it? YOU CAN! Now automatic heat no longer depends on costly fuel or expensive equipment. FURNASTOKER burns COAL, the safest, most reliable fuel on earth, and uses less of it than you are actually burning now to get equivalent heat!

Besides this saving, you bid a blissful farewell to all the trials of the hand-fired furnace. No more smoke—for the FURNASTOKER burns ALL the coal—there is nothing left to go up the chimney. No more fussing with drafts—the FURNASTOKER regulates its own. No more daily dozen up and down the cellar stairs—the FURNASTOKER is automatically fed from a capacious hopper. You are free to leave the house if you wish, the fire will not go out. Your comfort is assured, your health is protected; your housekeeping is cut in half. Your home is modern at last—you have AUTOMATIC HEAT!

Reductions in fuel bills made by a FURNASTOKER are little short of amazing. As soon as this little machine is installed, it begins to pay back its purchase price. That is because the FURNASTOKER gets full heating value out of this low-cost fuel—and gives you, at LESS COST, heating comfort you never dreamed of before!

Be the first in your neighborhood to investigate this equipment—you will enjoy seeing it and it will cost you nothing. Get the details from us—find out exactly what the FURNASTOKER would accomplish in YOUR home. We're ready with details today!

DROUGHT AND HEAT TAKES HEAVY DEATH TOLL

mainder of the heat oppressed sections little relief was expected.

Showers were possible in some of the affected areas, it was said, but in most others there was no escape in sight from the scorching sun and arid winds which have claimed approximately three score lives since Aug. 1.

St. Louis, with a temperature of 106, was one of the hottest places in the country yesterday, and temperatures higher than 100 were common. Concordia, Ia., recorded a mark of 108 and readings of 102 were reported from Peoria, Des Moines, Omaha, Washington, Oklahoma City and Keokuk, Ia. Wichita reported a high mark of 104.

Scarcely a person from Colorado to Pennsylvania escaped without some mark of the heat's work. Those who did not feel the immediate economic effects of crop and livestock losses suffered bodily from the sun's rays, which penetrated the most thoroughly insulated homes and office buildings.

Heat waves played strange pranks in the drought-stricken areas while agrarian leaders sought by radio and public statement to instruct their followers in tricks of marketing and management to prevent further losses.

Alexander Leage of the federal farm board advised farmers to feed low-priced wheat to livestock as long as pasture lands remain parched. Louis J. Taber of the National Grange called for lower freight rates and easier credit to enable farmers to ship their cattle out of drought areas.

Charge Two Harbors with Illegal Expenditure

St. Paul, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Illegal expenditure of $1,600 in municipal funds of Two Harbors was charged today in a report to Ray P. Chase, state auditor. The expenditures were made in violation of the city charter, the report stated.

UNDERCOVER DRY AGENT RELEASED

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 5.—(UP)—Mandell Hessel, undercover dry agent, was released today while federal agents hunted for John Smith, Avon, Minn., constable who preferred charges of kidnapping against him. Smith charged Hessel with abducting Ernest Smith, 19, his son. Hessel was arrested at Webster, S. D., on the warrant sworn out by Smith.

Maurice Silverman, Minnesota enforcement chief, ordered a statewide search for Constable Smith who is wanted on prohibition charges. The son was arraigned on charges of possession and sale of liquor, maintaining a nuisance, transportation of liquor and conspiracy to violate the prohibition amendment.

Bail was set at $6,000 and Smith was remanded to Hennepin county jail when he was unable to furnish that amount. Hearing was set for Saturday before U. S. Commissioner Howard S. Abbott, Minneapolis.

Romance Blossoms at Capital House Party

The former Catherine Lawrence, artists' model, who, it has just been learned, eloped from a house party on July 16 with Charles Mason Wesson, son of a military attaché of the U. S. Embassy in London. After awakening the county clerk at Gathersburg, Md., in order to obtain a license, the couple proceeded to Rockville, Md., where they were married.

SOUTH DAKOTA WANTS RAIL MERGER CASE REOPENED

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 5.—(UP)—The South Dakota railroad commission today filed a petition with the Interstate Commerce commission asking for a reopening of the Northern Pacific-Great Northern merger case.

South Dakota was the seventh northwest state to protest the proposed merger. Three states served by the roads have not yet taken any stand on the merger. Oregon refused to protest the consolidation.

States which have taken no action as yet are Wisconsin, Nebraska and Wyoming.

Washington, Aug. 5.—(UP)—A fifth northwestern state was added today to the list of opponents to the merger of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads when the Idaho public utilities commission asked the Interstate Commerce commission to reopen proceedings in the case.

Reason for the request was the same as that in the Minnesota protest, that the commission had failed to consider effect of the consolidation of the roads' employees. Washington, Montana and Iowa also have protested the merger.

SERIOUS COMMUNAL RIOTING AT SUKKUR

London, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Serious communal rioting at Sukkur, India, resulting in a number of casualties, was reported today in a Karachi dispatch to the London Evening News.

Two companies of a Punjab regiment were ordered to proceed to Sukkur from Hyderabad to maintain order, the dispatch said, and troops regularly stationed at Sukkur, aided by civilian volunteers, were patrolling the streets. Machine guns have been set up before public buildings.

Police were compelled to fire 30 shots into the rioting mobs of Hindus and Moslems to disperse them.

ESDON

John Veit was in Brainerd Friday afternoon on business.

Every one be sure and come to our ladies aid sale August 14, at the Esdon school.

Whale's Diving Power
It would be impossible for a whale to descend to the bottom of the ocean to any considerable depth of water. Although it cannot be exactly known, it has been estimated that the maximum dive of the whale is approximately 100 fathoms—that is 600 feet—and at any greater depth than this the pressure of the water would be too great for the safety of the whale.

"WHERE'S EMILY?" by CAROLYN WELLS

CHAPTER XXXV.
PRALL took the guest to his rooms, told him the supper was an informal affair and he need not dress, and at Stone's dismissal left him.

The detective went first to a window and looked over Hilldale Park.

"An ideal place to live," he told himself. "If ever I can decide to retire from this busy life of mine, this is the sort of place I'd like to settle in. And to think of crime and wickedness stalking rampant among these peaceful dales and picturesque hills."

He found himself in possession of a commodious bedroom and bath and a most comfortable and well furnished sitting room, all of which delighted his soul. For though quite well able to adapt himself to the plainest and simplest of living arrangements, Fleming Stone was enough of a Sybarite to enjoy elaborate appointments when offered him.

He went deliberately from one window to another, taking in the landscape from two directions, as his rooms were in a corner of the great house.

Owing to the slope, he could see tree tops from both sides, and some of the trees were already beginning to show the painting of Autumn's fingers.

He saw parts of houses, and some towers and roofs, but the place was too thickly wooded to give any extended view. He saw what he assumed must be the ravines, of which he had heard, but these, too, were only partly visible.

So, with a final glance at the beauty of the general landscape, and a real joy in the thought of spending a few days under this delightful roof, he went downstairs to begin his work as soon as he might.

Everett Craven had been asked to come over, for it was thought he might be of assistance in telling Stone about Emily's affairs, and both Aunt Judy and Sayre had determined to tell the detective everything bearing on the case.

Supper was served, and before the meal had progressed beyond its first course Stone was ready to admit he had never been in a more delightful home, or one with more of real comfort and charm, and less of ostentation or pretension.

It seemed to be tacitly understood that the case was not to be discussed at the table, and so the conversation ran on lighter topics, and Aunt Judy's tact, assisted by her young friends, carried them past any references or allusions that might tend toward the tragedy.

Quickly understanding, Stone accepted the situation and filled admirably his role of casual guest.

He was a man of pleasing address, and his deepset eyes flashed now and then with a sudden thought engendered by some chance remark. For though joining in the table talk, Stone was also studying the people who sat round the board, and gaining far more information than a less experienced observer would have deemed possible.

Supper over, they all went to the lounge.

"It is pleasant on the verandas now," said Aunt Judy, "but it will very soon grow dark and chill out there. So I think we will settle ourselves in the lounge and begin our conference."

"That is all right," Stone smiled at her, "but perhaps conference is not quite the word. I know only what I have read in the papers about this matter, and this grouped themselves about the room as they chose.

Shortly after eight o'clock, Fleming Stone, the famous detective, arrived.

It was a much more informal proceeding than Stone was accustomed to, or than he liked, but he felt it incumbent on him to meet their wishes, and he felt he could swing the situation.

"You must remember, first of all," he said, in his grave way, "that I do not know Miss Duane at all, and I am therefore handicapped as to any surmise of what she might or might not do of her own volition."

"Here is her photograph," said Aunt Judy, and Stone gave her an appreciative smile as he took the picture.

"That helps," he said, "and now one or two of you will give me a bit of description of her character, or rather, of her ways and whims."

"That's a good word," Aunt Judy conceded, "Emily is all whims. She flies from one thing to another like a butterfly from flower to flower."

"Unreliable?" asked Stone, not smiling at all. "I mean, would she say she would do a thing or go somewhere and then later, not do it, or not go to the place?"

"Yes," Aunt Judy agreed, "she

mainder of the heat pressed sections little relief was expected.

Showers were possible in some of the affected areas, it was said, but in most others there was no escape in sight from the scorching sun and arid winds which have claimed approximately three score lives since Aug. 1.

St. Louis, with a temperature of 106, was one of the hottest places in the country yesterday, and temperatures higher than 100 were common. Concordia, Ia., recorded a mark of 108 and readings of 102 were reported from Peoria, Des Moines, Omaha, Washington, Oklahoma City and Keokuk, Ia. Wichita reported a high mark of 104.

Scarcely a person from Colorado to Pennsylvania escaped without some mark of the heat's work. Those who did not feel the immediate economic effects of crop and livestock losses suffered badly from the sun's rays, which penetrated the most thoroughly insulated homes and office buildings.

Heat waves played strange pranks in the drought-stricken areas while agrarian leaders sought by radio and public statement to instruct their followers in tricks of marketing and management to prevent further losses.

Alexander Legge of the federal farm board advised farmers to feed low-priced wheat to livestock as long as pasture lands remain parched. Louis J. Taber of the National Grange called for lower freight rates and easier credit to enable farmers to ship their cattle out of drought areas.

Charge Two Harbors with Illegal Expenditure

St. Paul, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Illegal expenditure of $1,000 in municipal funds of Two Harbors was charged today in a report to Ray P. Chase, state auditor. The expenditures were made in violation of the city charter, the report stated.

UNDERCOVER DRY AGENT RELEASED

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 5.—(UP)—Mandell Hessel, undercover dry agent, was released today while federal agents hunted for John Smith, Avon, Minn., constable who preferred charges of kidnapping against him.

Smith charged Hessel with abducting Ernest Smith, 19, his son. Hessel was arrested at Webster, S. D., on the warrant sworn out by Smith.

Maurice Silverman, Minnesota enforcement chief, ordered a statewide search for Constable Smith who is wanted on prohibition charges. The son was arraigned on charges of possession and sale of liquor, maintaining a nuisance, transportation of liquor and conspiracy to violate the prohibition amendment.

Bail was set at $6,000 and Smith was remanded to Hennepin county jail when he was unable to furnish that amount. Hearing was set for Saturday before U. S. Commissioner Howard S. Abbott, Minneapolis.

SOUTH DAKOTA WANTS RAIL MERGER CASE REOPENED

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 5.—(UP)—The South Dakota railroad commission today filed a petition with the Interstate Commerce commission asking for a reopening of the Northern Pacific-Great Northern merger case.

South Dakota was the seventh north-west state to protest the proposed merger. Three states served by the roads have not yet taken any stand on the merger. Oregon refused to protest the consolidation.

States which have taken no action as yet are Wisconsin, Nebraska and Wyoming.

Washington, Aug. 5.—(UP)—A fifth northwestern state was added today to the list of opponents to the merger of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads when the Idaho public utilities commission asked the Interstate Commerce commission to reopen proceedings in the case.

Reason for the request was the same as that in the Minnesota protest, that the commission had failed to consider effect of the consolidation of the roads' employees. Washington, Montana and Iowa also have protested the merger.

After awakening the county clerk at Gathersburg, Md., in order to obtain a license, the couple proceeded to Rockville, Md., where they were married.

SERIOUS COMMUNAL RIOTING AT SUKKUR

London, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Serious communal rioting at Sukkur, India, resulting in a number of casualties, was reported today in a Karachi dispatch to the London Evening News.

Two companies of a Punjab regiment were ordered to proceed to Sukkur from Hyderabad to maintain order, the dispatch said, and troops regularly stationed at Sukkur, aided by civilian volunteers, were patrolling the streets. Machine guns have been set up before public buildings.

Police were compelled to fire 30 shots into the rioting mobs of Hindus and Moslems to disperse them.

Whale's Diving Power

It would be impossible for a whale to descend to the bottom of the ocean at any considerable depth of water. Although it cannot be exactly known, it has been estimated that the maximum dive of the whale is approximately 100 fathoms—that is 600 feet—and at any greater depth than this the pressure of the water would be too great for the safety of the whale.
